By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

MUSTAPHA KEMAL PASHA writes a speech that requires two days steady reading in the Turkish congress. Several secretaries help

"Red Jacket," who taught the late Albert Brisbane, as a boy, to make bows and arrows in Batavia, N. Y., was called "So-Go-Ye-Wat-Ha," which means "He keeps them awake." He talked 24 hours without stopping to prevent a massacre of whites by Indians, and succeeded, which was fortunate for the people of Batavia and other little frontier settlements of that day.

"SA-GO-YE-WAT-HA," died in 1860, proud of a silver medal that George Washington gave him. But he never took to missionaries, saying to them, "If you killed your god, do not come here, to blame us Indians. We did not kill him. If he had come to us we would have treated him kindly."

THE French know the wisdom of protecting industry, and proved it long ago. After French noblemen had ruined themselves in silks and velvets of the "Field of the cloth of gold," when Francis The First and Henry the Eighth had their wrestling match, the French government said, "No silks, velvets or looking glasses shall be imported. If French noblemen want such things they must buy them from French workers." Because of that decison France today rules the world in silks, velvets and some other things.

NOW France says, to the horror of Great Britan, "No coal shall be imported into France except by special permit. We shall use our own coal, including that recently taken from Germany."

Great Britain has been selling 10,000,000 tons of coal every year to France, and the French embargo threatens a new crisis for harassed Britan.

EXPENSES of our national government have been reduced to three thousand million dollars a year, which means a cut of $295,000,000 in four years. The government can cut as much more from its expenditures, in four minutes, by stopping foolish

Mill Worker Turns Over Life Savings To Two Strangers

Draws Money From Bank to Prove he is "Industrious" and Hands it to Two Friends."

PROMISED SHARE IN $3100 "FIND"

Crooks Charter Taxicab and go to Steubenville as Victim Waits in Lobby of Postoffice.

Van Manning, 45, colored mill worker, of 546 Penn avenue, Midland, was fleeced out of $700, representing his life savings in a confidence game on Saturday by two strangers, both negroes, according to a report made to Chief of Police McDermott.

Met On Street Car.

The police traced the "con" men to Steubenville, where they are believed to have boarded a train to Pittsburgh.

Manning told police that he boarded a street car in Midland, bound for East Liverpool, Saturday morning, two "well dressed" colored men getting on the car at the same stop. Manning said the strangers, who sat close to him, represented they were "wealthy real estate operators" and said they were in their way to East Liverpool to buy a large barber shop.

After leaving the car at the Broadway terminal, Manning says one of the men picked up a pocketbook from the street. The finder opened it and Manning declares that he saw a $100 bill in the purse. He accompanied the two men to the post office where a second examination of the purse was made. While the Midland man did not get a glimpse of the purse this time, he claims that the men said it contained $3,100—three $1,000 bills and one $100 bill. One of them remarked that they had "a bucket of milk and we had better get out before we spill it."

Change $100 Bill.

One of the two objected, claiming that Manning had been with them when the find was made and that he was entitled to one-third of the money. His partner said that he was willing to split the contents of the purse but that Manning must furnish proof that he was industrious and capable of taking care of the money if it were turned over to him. Manning said that he had $700 in a savings account at the First National bank here and at their request he went to the bank where he obtained his balance.

Returning to the postoffice he counted out his money, five $100 bills and four $50 notes to his newly-found friends. One of the men took the money and told him to wait at the postoffice until they could change the money and that he would receive $1,700 in return—his own money and $1,000 of the contents of the purse.

Manning waited at the postoffice from 11 a. m. until 2 p. m. for the return of the men and then notified Chief of Police McDermott. The police, upon investigation, learned that the two men had engaged a local taxicab which took them to Steubenville. The driver claims that the men left the cab within two squares of the Panhandle railroad station in Steubenville. One of Manning's $100 bills had been changed on the way to Steubenville from which they had paid for the taxicab. No trace of the men could be found in Steubenville.

GENEVA PROPOSAL

Cruisers, Destroyers and Submarines to Come Under New Pact.

GENEVA, June 20.—Concrete proposal designed to eliminate the last vestige of naval competition between the great powers was laid before the Geneva arms conference today by the American delegation.

The American program, boiled down, was that the 5—5—3 ratio of capital ship strength, established at the Washington conference six years ago, be extended to cover all remaining classes of fighting craft.

It agreed to by the participating powers, Great Britain and Japan, the British and American navies eventually will be of the same size, ship for ship, class for class, and that of Japan will be of the same ratio 3 to 5.

Suggest Abolition of Submarines.

For practical purposes the American proposal established four classes of ships to be dealt with in the proposed new treaty, which is to be supplemental to the Washington treaty.

These classes were: The cruiser class, the destroyer class, the submarine class and an exempt class that includes all other types such as supply ships, tenders, mine-sweepers, etc.

In the cruiser class the American proposal was that the United States and Great Britain limit their tonnage to not exceeding 300,000 tons as against 180,000 for Japan.

In the destroyer class the tonnage

COMMANDER RICHARD E. BYRD HOPES WEATHER WILL PERMIT HOP-OFF FOR PARIS TOMORROW EVE

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Commander Richard E. Byrd hopes that weather conditions will permit him to hop off for Paris tomorrow evening, or, at the latest, Wednesday.

He wants to take off at sunset, instead of early in the morning as Lindbergh and Chamberlin did. Early morning had been considered the best time for the hop-off because of atmospheric conditions, but Byrd pointed out that by leaving about 6 in the evening he could land in Europe in daytime.

Byrd said today that he will seek an air lane across the Atlantic which will afford the maximum speed with the greatest margin of safety. Some day this course may be the every-day air route to Europe.

Huge Plane Ready.

The huge three-motored plane "America" has been gone over thoroughly and is ready for the trip. Members of Byrd's crew, Bert Acosta, the pilot and Lieut. G. O. Noville, the engineers, are awaiting impatiently for the time for the take off. The name of the fourth person who may make the trip has not been revealed although it is reported he will be Bernt Balchen, formerly of the Norwegian navy.

Unfavorable weather still prevails over the Atlantic. There are headwinds from New York to Newfoundland and from Newfoundland to mid-ocean. From that point to Ireland storms are raging.

Everything on this trip will be done on a scientific basis. Byrd will explore the various air lanes over the Atlantic with the idea of determining which one is the best. He will have all the instruments which Lindbergh had, including the earth inductor compass, and several more, the most important of which is the bubble sextant, by means of which the exact position of the plane may be determined and plotted on the chart.

Seeks Safest Air Course.

"I hope to learn to some extent the quickest and safest air course of Europe," said Byrd. "They are not necessarily the same.

"The quickest course may be the southern end of a low area, or area of storm, where a strong westerly wind would blow the plane along at high speed. Such a course, however, might be dangerous.

"It would be of great scientific value to learn more about the weather conditions that prevail above the surface of the ocean on the edges of the low pressure areas."

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Commander Richard E. Byrd hopes that weather conditions will permit him to hop off for Paris tomorrow evening, or, at the latest, Wednesday.

He wants to take off at sunset, instead of early in the morning as Lindbergh and Chamberlin did. Early morning had been considered the best time for the hop-off because of atmospheric conditions, but Byrd pointed out that by leaving about 6 in the evening he could land in Europe in daytime.

Byrd said today that he will seek an air lane across the Atlantic which will afford the maximum speed with the greatest margin of safety. Some day this course may be the every-day air route to Europe.

Huge Plane Ready.

The huge three-motored plane "America" has been gone over thoroughly and is ready for the trip. Members of Byrd's crew, Bert Acosta, the pilot and Lieut. G. O. Noville, the engineers, are awaiting impatiently for the time for the take off. The name of the fourth person who may make the trip has not been revealed although it is reported he will be Bernt Balchen, formerly of the Norwegian navy.

Unfavorable weather still prevails over the Atlantic. There are headwinds from New York to Newfoundland and from Newfoundland to mid-ocean. From that point to Ireland storms are raging.

Everything on this trip will be done on a scientific basis. Byrd will explore the various air lanes over the Atlantic with the idea of determining which one is the best. He will have all the instruments which Lindbergh had, including the earth inductor compass, and several more, the most important of which is the bubble sextant, by means of which the exact position of the plane may be determined and plotted on the chart.

Seeks Safest Air Course.

"I hope to learn to some extent the quickest and safest air course of Europe," said Byrd. "They are not necessarily the same.

"The quickest course may be the southern end of a low area, or area of storm, where a strong westerly wind would blow the plane along at high speed. Such a course, however, might be dangerous.

"It would be of great scientific value to learn more about the weather conditions that prevail above the surface of the ocean on the edges of the low pressure areas."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 20.—Speculative interest was centered mainly in the "merger" railroad stocks at the beginning of trading on the stock market today. Reports that official approval would be given today of the so-called southwest unification plan stimulated active trading in Kansas City Southern, Katy and St. Louis Southwestern common at slight advances over Saturday's close. Nickel Plate also rose about 4 points in a firm market.

Some apprehension was felt over the money situation, in view of the reported deficit in the reserves of the New York city banks, as disclosed in Saturday's clearing house statement. There was a disposition to reduce commitments in advance of the weekly reserve board report on brokers' loans, to be issued at Washington after the close of the market today. A further expansion in brokers' loans might lead to another period of hurried liquidation, in the Wall Street view, call money renewed today at 4 per cent.

Another break in crude rubber sent prices down from 40 to 100 points, or a cent a pound. Sugar was advanced 10 points in the second hour, and most of the grains sold fractionally higher in the principal American and Canadian markets.

DIPLOMACY PLAYED ROLE IN LINDY'S HOMECOMIING, CAPITAL HEARS

By Charles P. Stewart.

MYRON T. HERRICK

That's been intimated— that Lindy's good time in Europe was cut short to prevent delaying the presidential vacation.

It's true Charlie was dragged hither before he was ready to come. It's true there were reasons why his return from abroad was much desired by the Washington government. It's true the young flyer's personal wishes were somewhat sub-ordinated to what was deemed this country's best interests.

But as for the president's vacation—well, if that was thought of at all, at least it wasn't the principal consideration.

TRUSTWORTHY inside dope credits Ambassador Herrick, in Paris, with evolving the theory that Lindy had been overseas about long enough.

His line of reasoning was substantially thus:

Lindy's visit here (in France) has been a positively incredible success. It's transformed relations between the old and the new worlds, overnight, from nothing-to-brag-about to the p l e a santest-anybody-could-ask. The thing can't be improved on, because it's perfection now. It would be tempting providence to keej it up. Something might go wrong.

IN just what words the ambassador clothed this thought, for the state department's benefit, we don't know but it's certain that he put the idea across.

The state department also denies that it sent word to Lindy to hurry home.

Sure not.

It wouldn't have been diplomatic. The state department couldn't have made him do it, anyway. Suppose it had tried to, and Lindy had balked. A nice situation! He couldn't very well have been extradited.

However, as Charlie says, he "found a warship waiting" for him.

STORY OF SEA AT AMERICAN

"Captain Salvation" Thrilling Adventure Drama.

One of the fastest, most thrilling adventure dramas ever screened of the men who go down to the sea in ships, "Captain Salvation," opened at the American theatre today. It is a Cosmopolitan production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, featuring Lars Hanson, the Swedish actor, who created such vivid impressions in "The Scarlet Letter" and "Flesh and the Devil." Mr. Hanson is a descendant of the old Norse Vikings and looks on his role in "Captain Salvation" as one of his greatest characterizations. He is surrounded by an exceptional cast including Pauline Starke, Ernest Torrence, Marceline Day and Sam de Grasse.

"Captain Salvation" is packed with spectacular and highly exciting scenes. It tells the red-blooded romance of courageous men and daring women, battling the fury of the sea, the intolerance of petty conventions, and the brutal captain of a hell-ship. A saga of adventure it fairly breathes the salt tang of the deep. It grips, it thrills, it amazes, and its love story tugs at the heartstrings. This is a new type of picture, standing out vividly against the usual screen entertainment. It was directed by John S. Robertson.

Business "Satisfactory"

Here is a summary of the latest business report from the economic experts of the National City Bank of New York, biggest financial institution in the country:

"The general business situation in May has continued satisfactory. Manufacturing is going on in large volume, distribution is apparently keeping pace, employment conditions are good, and money is abundant for business purposes."

There are troubles, of course. There are the coal strike, the Mississippi flood, overproduction of oil, bad crop weather in the West, and a general downward tendency in non-agricultural commodities—which doesn't worry consumers so much as it does business men. On the other hand, the "supporting influences" are strong. Steel is operating at a high level, building continues in large volume, the automobile industry is doing better than was expected, improvements are recorded in many important lines, foreign trade is healthy.

Thus business in the aggregate is "averaging fully up to or above normal," as shown by such dependable standards as electric power consumption, railway traffic and bank payments.

"Quitely clearly, although maladjustments exist, they have not been basic enough to seriously disturb the general condition of stability which has characterized the last few years."

In other words, prosperity continues, with the American people enjoying the highest per capita income ever received by the people of any country, and with business resting on foundations which the experts believe "will sustain the general average at good levels during the coming months."

There are some bad spots, and competition is keener than it used to be, and the inefficient fellow has more trouble than he had during the hectic war boom. But don't believe anybody who tells you business isn't good and this nation isn't sitting, economically, on top of the world.

Professorial Sportsmanship

When Lindbergh was a student in the University of Wisconsin the English department had a rather discouraging time with him about such matters as grammar, spelling and punctuation. The professor in charge of English composition kept insisting or more careful work.

Finally young Lindbergh got tired of hearing about it, and wrote a theme that was a direct lampoon on the professor. He told how a clergyman, dying and arriving at the gate of heaven, was held up while St. Peter examined his passport, and then was "bawled out" and threatened with banishment because there were two misplaced commas in it.

And what did the professor do about that theme? He recognized its real merit, and gave Lindbergh an "A" on it—the highest mark possible. Showing that there are sportsmen in professorial chairs as well as airplanes.

A Magician's Undoing

The truth has come out about the death of Houdini, the magician, a few months ago.

A week before his death, Houdini had challenged a student of McGill University, in Montreal, to strike him a hard blow. He did this to prove his fine physical condition. He was sure that his strength would enable him to withstand any blow an athletic young man was capable of striking.

Therein the usually canny magician made a sad mistake. The student, without any malevolence whatever, but eager to oblige, hauled off and landed a heavy blow which happened to strike Houdini in the region of the appendix, causing an internal rupture, resulting fatally.

It is a grown-up version of the familiar bravado of children, daring others to hurt them. Better play safe, at whatever age, where bodily safety is concerned.

Literary Quarantine

The Winnipeg Tribune is urging the Canadian government to take action barring from the Dominion "literary filth" of American origin.

"There is no need to establish a literary censorship," observes the Tribune. "The magazines in question do not rank as literature at all. They are cheap, degraded, filthy. They are magazine garbage. On the same principle that we ban importations of diseased cattle, and even diseased plants and bulbs and roots, they should be permanently excluded from Canada."

The problem may not be quite so simple as that, but the principle seems sound. There is ample justification for a quarantine against a lot of printed matter produced in New York and Chicago, and dumped onto decent communities near and far. Our own states and cities might defend themselves from pollution on that principle. Here is something worse than the corn borer or the foot and mouth disease.

America, says Lindbergh, is successful in carrying all mail, and Europe is successful in carrying passengers. It's time to combine the two.

One appealing thing about aviation is that the air isn't full of superfluous traffic signs and warnings telling you how to drive.

A New York girl walks 25 miles in her sleep. That's one way of getting up an appetite for breakfast.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

WHEN MOTHER AND CHILD GO FORTH

There are coincidences in stories as there are coincidences in life generally. It's rather strange that twice in one day I should hear a yarn dealing with a mother and a child and a trolley car. Yet that very thing happened not so long ago.

Here is one of the yarns:

The lady and the little boy had just boarded the car. The conductor eyed the child closely as he advanced to collect the fares. He had been warned to be on the lookout for unscrupulous parents who lied regarding the proper ages of their offspring in order to avoid paying fares for them.

"How old is your son, madam?" he asked as she handed him her nickel.

"Three and a half," she replied, truthfully.

"Very well" he said, his suspicions allayed.

The child raised his head.

"And mother's thirty-three," he stated in a laud clear voice.

Here is the other yarn:

On a street car sat a young matron. She was drowsy; presently her head began to nod and she slept lightly. At her side was a lad of ten, beautifully dressed. Long golden ringlets covered his head and shoulder. Almost any woman would say that a child so blessed should be happy. But this child did not appear to be happy.

Perhaps that was because two rough-looking crop-headed youngsters of approximately his own age were snickering at him from across the aisle. Presently, emboldened by the fact that the lady with him slumbered, they began dealing in audible taunts.

"Girl baby!" said the second tormentor. "That's all—just an old girl baby!"

"Say, kid," demanded the first, "who curled your hair for you?"

The object of their derision cast a cautious glance upward to make sure the sleeper had not roused. Then, in a voice quivering with suppressed indignation he answered:

"My mother—dam' her!"

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 20.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Before daylight to a tram station and going down a darkened hall a nightwatch inquired sharply "Who are you?" and I replied "Young Jack Harkaway" which I thought amusing enough for that time of day.

Sat at a depot lunch counter and had an oyster stew and the serving man told me he recognized me from published pictures but punctured any growing conceit with: "I don't care for your stuff, but my wife reads it. She'll read anything."

Home and slept until dusk and V. V. McNitt and C. B. Driscoll came to dinner and we talked of this, that and the other and especially of days when we labored on various Ohio gazettes. Later at my labours and to bed.

Al Davis, a former professional dancer, is considered one of the crack horsemen in the country. He rides jumpers and is as well known on the French turf as he is in America. Trained to negotiate obstacles, I saw him almost come a cropper on a rug in a hotel foyer the other evening. There is a special "foolish look" for those who trip in public. It is generally accompanied by a blush and embarrassed half laugh. I do not believe anyone is able to rise above it.

There are some who will make a trip in public an excuse to tie a shoe lace that does not need tying and others who limp away as though badly injured.

It has been my lot to trip usually at the precise second when having half turned about to gaze at some beautiful woman, she suddenly, for no reason at all, glanced in my direction.

Window washers who hang so dizzily from lofty perches usually grow careless. With their straps attached, their security is pretty well secured but they often neglect to use them. As a result recent orders in big skyscrapers subject the slightest carelessness to dismissal.

Steel workers who walk so perilously across beams say their sureness lies totally in the mental outlook. If they think of danger, they immediately sit down and squirm their way across. They have trained themselves to keep thoughts off the hazards.

When a steel worker stumbles and falls, the set back to building operations is heavy. There is an unwritten code that in case of such catastrophe all workers on the job quit for the day.

In younger days I had ambitions to be a devil of the high wire. I began modestly in the back yard on a clothes line wire, a foot from the ground and eventually reached a height of three feet. It was at this period of progress when able to climb through a barrel hoop that I glanced up and saw my school teacher gazing at me from the window of a nearby house. I immediately fell straddle of the wire, so in my own small way I know something of the concentration necessary for steel workers.

A playmate of mine in those days, incidentally, became a balloonist who sailed to the clouds at country fairs. Later he conceived the idea of riding a motorcycle periliously around a saucer like bowl in vaudeville. He was the boy, too, who used to be chased all around vacant lots with the threat to throw a caterpillar on him.

Speaking of balloonists, a New York circus agency says they are almost passe. With farmers seeing mail airplanes over their heads daily, they have no interest whatever in a balloon ascension. And along came Lindy! That must have been a big blow to the balloon business.

Metric System Controversy.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Americans have a special gift for controversy. Vast numbers have some cause very dear to them and, particularly in recent years, have organized some society as a means of expression and, perhaps, to some extent as a safety valve. These organizations have for their purpose making other people agree with them. Political parties are one phase of the phenomeon, but probably the most extreme case is that of foreign missions which seek to lead persons of foreign nations to agree with various denominations of Christianity at home.

And it seems that having a cause and a vehicle for furthering it engenders a desire to despise opponents.

One of the strangest controversies which has ever developed is now raging and has for some years. It grows in intensity each year. The dispute is between advocates of the metric system of weights and measures and those opposed to that system. It seems strange that such passionate recriminations could be used in the discussion of so dull a subject, but the crusaders on both sides have their hearts and souls bound up in their causes and devote a tremendous amount of effort each to make the other side agree with them.

Each side eagerly contradicts the statements of the other.

While the gentlemen involved are of a high type of education and culture they seldom use the term "lie," but it is not difficult to determine that this good old English word is precisely what is meant.

The All-American Standards Council is probably the leading organization favoring adoption of the metric system but The Metric association is powerful too. They cooperate. They held the Second Pan American Standardization Conference in Washington last month.

Their bitterest opponent is the American Institute of Weights and Measures which looks with horror on any scheme to trip up the pound, temper with the ton, pick on the peck, or trifle with the yard.

The most amazingly opposite statements are made by both sides. It doesn't seem possible that both can be right. These people, who are very few in numbers relatively, would have Congress compel Americans to use the metric system in all their dealings. On the theory that the people do not know what is good for them, the pro-metric organizations would force system on them.

Interesting Counter Charges.

One of the most interesting statements made by the technical adviser of the American Institute of Weights and Measures in defense of the old English units is that the fact that English speaking nations are free nations where the will of the people is controlling whereas the metricists find their system in use only in autocratic countries where dictators or autocrats force the people to use the system.

One of the most ingenious statements of the anti-metricists is that all the pro-metric agitaton is no more than German propaganda. This propaganda started about 35 years ago when Germany was feeling British competition in world trade and Germany had started out on the campaign of world domination which led up to the Great War. The idea was that to introduce the metric system in England would so confuse trade that Germany could obtain England's markets before the latter could become used to dealing in the new units. The same tactics were used against the United States. It is stated that Germany hoped to invade England and make peace at Westminster. One of the articles of peace was to be insistence on immediate adoption of the metric system.

Long documents are put out by the opposing organizations to prove what they claim and equally long ones to disprove what the other side claims.

The Metric Association claims that 1,200,000,000 of the world's people are using the metric system. The American Institute of Weights and Measures allows the metric system is used by 358,000,000 while 514,000,000 people have local weights and measures which are a mixture of metric, English, and some other standards.

Samuel S. Dale has spent fifty years n fighting the metric system. He now is connected with the American Institute and regards the metric system as a great dragon menacing the world. He has made intensive researches and probably knows more about weights and measures than any one in the world. He firmly believes the German propaganda story and knows of other heinous crimes which have been committed by the metricists.

Where Units Came From.

There is very good evidenec that the English units came from ancient Egypt. What approximates our modern yard was a measure used in marking the stages of the annual inundation of the Nile. This was divided into cubits, two-thirds of an Egyptian cubit approximating the modern foot. The Greek stadium, reputed to be the distance Hercules could run without taking a breath was 600 Greek feet which measures 606 English feet, a trifling variation in over 2,000 years. The Romans adopted the Greek foot as a measure. These measures were taken into Britain as a matter of course and there introduced. The Roman occupation being nearly 500 years in duration it is natural that the Britons become sufficiently accustomed to these measures that they retained them after the Roman evacuation.

During the middle ages the greatest confusion existed as it was the custom of the great overlords to fix standards for use in their domains. Tributes were paid most of the feudatories in grain or other products and of given a number of bushels of grain was not all that the lord of the manor felt he could grind out of the peasantry, then he altered the quantity by making a bushel, for instance, a much larger unit. Kngs fixed the gold content of their coins to suit their needs.

The metric system brought some regularity to Europe, but it was by no means taken up instanter as a sort of gift of God as some of its ardent supporters would have one suppose. Napoleon, for instance, was strongly opposed to the metric system. He pointed out that 12 was a better unit than 10 because 10 had but two divisors, 2 and 5; whereas 12 had 4 divisors, 2 3, 4, and 6. John Qunicy Adams was an emphatic anti-metricist. "Decimal arithmetic," he said, "is a contrivance of man for computin number and not a property of time, space, or matter. Nature has no partiality for the number 10 and the attempt to shackle her freedom with it will forever be abortive."

The people in favor of the system declare that a child of ten can learn the system in ten minutes. Mr. Dale says he can not; not even a high school graduate could. And so it goes. Perhaps both sides are right. They are sure they are, in any event.

Business "Satisfactory"

Here is a summary of the latest business report from the economic experts of the National City Bank of New York, biggest financial institution in the country:

"The general business situation in May has continued satisfactory. Manufacturing is going on in large volume, distribution is apparently keeping pace, employment conditions are good, and money is abundant for business purposes."

There are troubles, of course. There are the coal strike, the Mississippi flood, overproduction of oil, bad crop weather in the West, and a general downward tendency in non-agricultural commodities—which doesn't worry consumers so much as it does business men. On the other hand, the "supporting influences" are strong. Steel is operating at a high level, building continues in large volume, the automobile industry is doing better than was expected, improvements are recorded in many important lines, foreign trade is healthy.

Thus business in the aggregate is "averaging fully up to or above normal," as shown by such dependable standards as electric power consumption, railway traffic and bank payments.

"Quitely clearly, although maladjustments exist, they have not been basic enough to seriously disturb the general condition of stability which has characterized the last few years."

In other words, prosperity continues, with the American people enjoying the highest per capita income ever received by the people of any country, and with business resting on foundations which the experts believe "will sustain the general average at good levels during the coming months."

There are some bad spots, and competition is keener than it used to be, and the inefficient fellow has more trouble than he had during the hectic war boom. But don't believe anybody who tells you business isn't good and this nation isn't sitting, economically, on top of the world.

Professorial Sportsmanship

When Lindbergh was a student in the University of Wisconsin the English department had a rather discouraging time with him about such matters as grammar, spelling and punctuation. The professor in charge of English composition kept insisting or more careful work.

Finally young Lindbergh got tired of hearing about it, and wrote a theme that was a direct lampoon on the professor. He told how a clergyman, dying and arriving at the gate of heaven, was held up while St. Peter examined his passport, and then was "bawled out" and threatened with banishment because there were two misplaced commas in it.

And what did the professor do about that theme? He recognized its real merit, and gave Lindbergh an "A" on it—the highest mark possible. Showing that there are sportsmen in professorial chairs as well as airplanes.

A Magician's Undoing

The truth has come out about the death of Houdini, the magician, a few months ago.

A week before his death, Houdini had challenged a student of McGill University, in Montreal, to strike him a hard blow. He did this to prove his fine physical condition. He was sure that his strength would enable him to withstand any blow an athletic young man was capable of striking.

Therein the usually canny magician made a sad mistake. The student, without any malevolence whatever, but eager to oblige, hauled off and landed a heavy blow which happened to strike Houdini in the region of the appendix, causing an internal rupture, resulting fatally.

It is a grown-up version of the familiar bravado of children, daring others to hurt them. Better play safe, at whatever age, where bodily safety is concerned.

Literary Quarantine

The Winnipeg Tribune is urging the Canadian government to take action barring from the Dominion "literary filth" of American origin.

"There is no need to establish a literary censorship," observes the Tribune. "The magazines in question do not rank as literature at all. They are cheap, degraded, filthy. They are magazine garbage. On the same principle that we ban importations of diseased cattle, and even diseased plants and bulbs and roots, they should be permanently excluded from Canada."

The problem may not be quite so simple as that, but the principle seems sound. There is ample justification for a quarantine against a lot of printed matter produced in New York and Chicago, and dumped onto decent communities near and far. Our own states and cities might defend themselves from pollution on that principle. Here is something worse than the corn borer or the foot and mouth disease.

America, says Lindbergh, is successful in carrying all mail, and Europe is successful in carrying passengers. It's time to combine the two.

One appealing thing about aviation is that the air isn't full of superfluous traffic signs and warnings telling you how to drive.

WHEN MOTHER AND CHILD GO FORTH

There are coincidences in stories as there are coincidences in life generally. It's rather strange that twice in one day I should hear a yarn dealing with a mother and a child and a trolley car. Yet that very thing happened not so long ago.

Here is one of the yarns:

The lady and the little boy had just boarded the car. The conductor eyed the child closely as he advanced to collect the fares. He had been warned to be on the lookout for unscrupulous parents who lied regarding the proper ages of their offspring in order to avoid paying fares for them.

"How old is your son, madam?" he asked as she handed him her nickel.

"Three and a half," she replied, truthfully.

"Very well" he said, his suspicions allayed.

The child raised his head.

"And mother's thirty-three," he stated in a laud clear voice.

Here is the other yarn:

On a street car sat a young matron. She was drowsy; presently her head began to nod and she slept lightly. At her side was a lad of ten, beautifully dressed. Long golden ringlets covered his head and shoulder. Almost any woman would say that a child so blessed should be happy. But this child did not appear to be happy.

Perhaps that was because two rough-looking crop-headed youngsters of approximately his own age were snickering at him from across the aisle. Presently, emboldened by the fact that the lady with him slumbered, they began dealing in audible taunts.

"Girl baby!" said the second tormentor. "That's all—just an old girl baby!"

"Say, kid," demanded the first, "who curled your hair for you?"

The object of their derision cast a cautious glance upward to make sure the sleeper had not roused. Then, in a voice quivering with suppressed indignation he answered:

"My mother—dam' her!"

Good Auto Repair Parts Available at Auto Wrecking Co.

Testifying to the fact that automobiles—any kind—occasionally will get balky and quit working, or wear out, or get run down at the heels, the East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Company, in Dresden avenue, has built up quite a business in providing district motorists with emergency supplies at reasonable rates.

The East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Company deals in good used parts for all makes of automobiles, such as tires, batteries, generators, tops, tools, plugs and practically anything that might be needed in the automotive line.

In addition they buy and sell used cars of any brand. If you've a car you'd like to sell quickly they can quote you a price on their own hook or direct their efforts toward finding a buyer.

All cars are used cars, and, logically enough, any of the component parts of a car must fall under the same classification. The East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Company endeavors to provide the customer with the best it can in used parts, and, of course, at a figure much below what the same thing would cost new.

This company adds to the attractiveness of its service by remaining open in the evenings.

Hanlon's Grinding Shop Can Put Old Motors in Good Trim

Your automobile, being a more or less intricate and expensive piece of machinery, certainly should be worth taking care of. All auto owners take care of their cars for a few months or so after they come out of the show room window—sleek and shiny in their gleaming new paint, and smooth running throughout.

But a majority of them, for some reason or other, gradually forget about it and after a while little troubles begin to develop here and there, which, if not attended to promptly, lead to big ones.

Eliminating troubles has built quite a business for the Hanlon Grinding ship, in Summit Lane.

The motor of your car, naturally, is the most important part of the whole assembly, and it is to motor repairs such as pistons, pins, rings, fly wheel starter gears that Hanlon devotes most of his attention.

Most of these parts last a decent length of time but when symptoms of wear and tear begin to manifest themselves, it is time to let Hanlon look them over.

A broken starter gear may stall you in the middle of traffic somewhere, or at the worst, on a railway crossing. Not pleasant to think about but much worse in actuality.

A little foresight, when you car is getting along toward middle age, may prove of benefit.

Ohio Lunch's Chef Served Greek Army Heads in Big War

Long years of service in actual cooking and in a supervisory capacity, three years of which were spent as chef for high officers over three Greek army divisions during the World war, have qualified Ellis Markanton, proprietor of the Ohio Lunch, Washington street, as a leader in his especial line.

While serving in the Greek army Markanton prepared food for the discriminating appetites of the principal officers of three army divisions, including Generals Pangelos and Neider, and worked at various times under the personal instruction of leading army physicians.

He has devoted his efforts to the restaurant business since his honorable discharge from army service and has achieved an unusual degree of success because of his adherence to honest principles.

The customer, first of all must be pleased at the Ohio Lunch; and he must be served so satisfactorily that he will return. Consequently, it is not the initial sale that has built the Ohio business, but the "repeat" orders. The best of foodstuffs are purchased, even if they cost a little more in some cases, and they are cooked and prepared in such a manner that the customer's health and well being are always considered first of all.

High health standards are maintained at all times. Service is prompt, eliminating waiting. Business men and others pressed for time, have found the Ohio an ideal place to lunch.

Service, Courtesy, Quality, Fair Price At F. P. Faulk Sons

Prompt service—courteous treatment—fair prices—and quality goods.

This is the quartet of business getters offered by the F. P. Faulk & Sons company—"where you dollar goes the farthest"—that will be hard to equal, let alone excel.

It will pay you well, doubtlessly, to get their prices on all kinds of feed, builders' supplies and tested garden and field seeds.

Faulk service is available in East Liverpool at Smith street and Green Lane, and in Wellsville in Lisbon street.

Naylor and Travis Auto Repairing is Always Dependable

Acquaintance with the individual owners or proprietors who stand back of a company or firm name often provides the customer with the greatest incentive to purchase from them or to have his wants attended to by them, and it is seldom, if ever, that this line of reasoning fails to work out to the mutual advantage of both.

Naylor and Travis, expert automobile mechanics, have established a good business at their shop in Summit lane, aided to a great extent, undoubtedly, by the fact that themselves and their ability have been sufficiently known to warrant first class results.

When something goes wrong with the car the average motorist must depend upon the mechanic at the shop to straighten things up. Naylor and Travis have proven their ability on practically any make of car and have proven themselves capable of honest eforts in every instance.

While qualified to handle general automobile repairing, this firm is especially trained in repair and other operations on the Buick.

Good Auto Repair Parts Available at Auto Wrecking Co.

Testifying to the fact that automobiles—any kind—occasionally will get balky and quit working, or wear out, or get run down at the heels, the East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Company, in Dresden avenue, has built up quite a business in providing district motorists with emergency supplies at reasonable rates.

The East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Company deals in good used parts for all makes of automobiles, such as tires, batteries, generators, tops, tools, plugs and practically anything that might be needed in the automotive line.

In addition they buy and sell used cars of any brand. If you've a car you'd like to sell quickly they can quote you a price on their own hook or direct their efforts toward finding a buyer.

All cars are used cars, and, logically enough, any of the component parts of a car must fall under the same classification. The East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Company endeavors to provide the customer with the best it can in used parts, and, of course, at a figure much below what the same thing would cost new.

This company adds to the attractiveness of its service by remaining open in the evenings.

Hanlon's Grinding Shop Can Put Old Motors in Good Trim

Your automobile, being a more or less intricate and expensive piece of machinery, certainly should be worth taking care of. All auto owners take care of their cars for a few months or so after they come out of the show room window—sleek and shiny in their gleaming new paint, and smooth running throughout.

But a majority of them, for some reason or other, gradually forget about it and after a while little troubles begin to develop here and there, which, if not attended to promptly, lead to big ones.

Eliminating troubles has built quite a business for the Hanlon Grinding ship, in Summit Lane.

The motor of your car, naturally, is the most important part of the whole assembly, and it is to motor repairs such as pistons, pins, rings, fly wheel starter gears that Hanlon devotes most of his attention.

Most of these parts last a decent length of time but when symptoms of wear and tear begin to manifest themselves, it is time to let Hanlon look them over.

A broken starter gear may stall you in the middle of traffic somewhere, or at the worst, on a railway crossing. Not pleasant to think about but much worse in actuality.

A little foresight, when you car is getting along toward middle age, may prove of benefit.

Ohio Lunch's Chef Served Greek Army Heads in Big War

Long years of service in actual cooking and in a supervisory capacity, three years of which were spent as chef for high officers over three Greek army divisions during the World war, have qualified Ellis Markanton, proprietor of the Ohio Lunch, Washington street, as a leader in his especial line.

While serving in the Greek army Markanton prepared food for the discriminating appetites of the principal officers of three army divisions, including Generals Pangelos and Neider, and worked at various times under the personal instruction of leading army physicians.

He has devoted his efforts to the restaurant business since his honorable discharge from army service and has achieved an unusual degree of success because of his adherence to honest principles.

The customer, first of all must be pleased at the Ohio Lunch; and he must be served so satisfactorily that he will return. Consequently, it is not the initial sale that has built the Ohio business, but the "repeat" orders. The best of foodstuffs are purchased, even if they cost a little more in some cases, and they are cooked and prepared in such a manner that the customer's health and well being are always considered first of all.

High health standards are maintained at all times. Service is prompt, eliminating waiting. Business men and others pressed for time, have found the Ohio an ideal place to lunch.

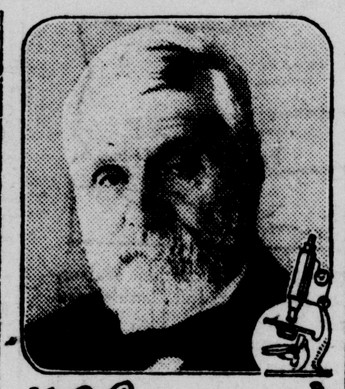
Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in hs practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, billiousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispostions that result from nonstipation was entirely by means of pimple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin why take chances with strong drugs?



AT AGE 83

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drugstores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

COLLEGE HOUSE GUTTED BY FIRE

Blaze of Undetermined Origin Visits Bethany Campus Grounds.

Fire destroyed the Sigma Nu Fraternity house at Bethany college early Sunday morning. The origin of the blaze is undetermined. The loss is estimated at about $8,000.

The fire was discovered at 1:30 o'clock by John Paul Pack, a student of Bethany college, who had not left the college town for the vacation months. Mr. Pack and four other students formed a brigade but were unsuccessful in combatting the flames.

An effort to remove the furniture from the building before it was consumed by fire failed when the roof caved in forty minutes after the blaze was discovered.

During the school term about twenty-five students room at this fraternity house. All but four had left Bethany to spend the summer months at their homes.

The building was a three story brick structure. The first and second floors were used for rooming purposes by students while the third floor was used entirely for storage purposes.

After fighting the flames for almost an hour the students aided by residents of the town realized the battle was futile. They then turned their efforts to remove some furniture. The students attempted to move the piano from the building and had almost reached the door when the roof caved in forcing them to leave the building.

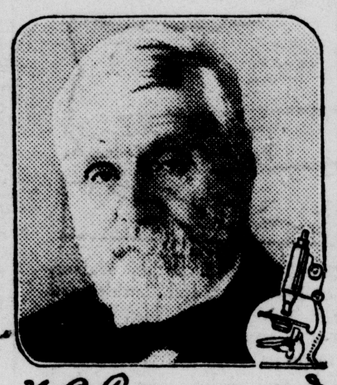
Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right



The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in hs practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, billiousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispostions that result from nonstipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All druggists have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

COLLEGE HOUSE GUTTED BY FIRE

Blaze of Undetermined Origin Visits Bethany Campus Grounds.

Fire destroyed the Sigma Nu Fraternity house at Bethany college early Sunday morning. The origin of the blaze is undetermined. The loss is estimated at about $8,000.

The fire was discovered at 1:30 o'clock by John Paul Pack, a student of Bethany college, who had not left the college town for the vacation months. Mr. Pack and four other students formed a brigade but were unsuccessful in combatting the flames.

An effort to remove the furniture from the building before it was consumed by fire failed when the roof caved in forty minutes after the blaze was discovered.

During the school term about twenty-five students room at this fraternity house. All but four had left Bethany to spend the summer months at their homes.

The building was a three story brick structure. The first and second floors were used for rooming purposes by students while the third floor was used entirely for storage purposes.

After fighting the flames for almost an hour the students aided by residents of the town realized the battle was futile. They then turned their efforts to remove some furniture. The students attempted to move the piano from the building and had almost reached the door when the roof caved in forcing them to leave the building.

COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH PLANS BUSINESS FUTURE

PLANS AERIAL TOUR IN HIS FAMOUS PLANE

Atlantic Ace Will Link Future to Commercial Aviation.

ST. LOUIS HUB

Hero of Skies May Visit 50 Different Cities.

By William K. Hutchinson.

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Turning aside from public functions and popular acclaim, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today began planning his business future and an aerial tour of the country in the interest of aviation.

While offers, involving millions of dollars and a variety of business opportunities have been showered upon America's air idol, it was definitely learned that he intends to link his future to commercial aviation. His closest associates revealed that Lindy now plans to center his business activities on the development of trans-Atlantic commercial air lines, with St. Louis as a hub. He will make his headquarters in St. Louis too, the city which he frequently has described as his "home."

The first stops on the air king's scheduled tour of the country will be announced in a few days. He will accept as many as he humanly can of the 50 invitations given him to visit different cities, it was said. His tentative route will be arranged, too, so as to permit him to fly over the maximum number of cities and towns in order that the greatest possible number of people will be able to see his plane in flight if they cannot get a glimpse of the hero in person.

Deliberations Secret.

Lindy was reported anxious to visit all sections of the country. The invitations already extended him, if accepted, would carry him from Detroit on the Canadian border to New Orleans on the gulf coast, from San Francisco on the Pacific to Boston on the Atlantic. If the youth has his way, he undoubtedly will visit them all.

The tour, however, will be arranged on the advice of Lindy's financial backers. He attended one conference last night at the palatial suburban home of Harry Hall Knight, millionaire St. Lousian. Besides the host, the conference included Harold M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Major William B. Robertson, head of the air mail line on which "Slim" served as a pilot, and B. F. Mahoney of San Diego. They were to meet again today.

These backers of the air hero shrouded their deliberations with secrecy. They declined to discuss his plans for the future but said an announcement would be made some time this week.

It was learned though that Lindy will leave St. Louis Wednesday or Thursday, although his destination was withheld. One report stated the air hero would fly back to Washington to confer with government experts over the technical descriptions written into the log of his trans-Atlantic flight.

Log of Flight.

Lindy will publish the log within a few weeks and his publishers were said to have urged him to complete the copy at once.

Lindy was concerned with another problem—the ultimate dispositon of his precious plane, "The Spirt of St. Louis." It was suggested to him that he turn it over as an exhibit to the national museum in Washington but Lindy would not commit himself. "I can't go into that now," was his reply.

Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, mother of the hero, who shares honors with him here, was scheduled to return to Detroit today. Her future was shrouded with mystery as friends of Lindy were understood to have urged her to give up her job as a school teacher in Detroit and come to live with him in St. Louis. Mrs. Lindbergh, however, has signed a contract to continue as a teacher next year in the Cass Technical High school at Detroit and recently said she "intended to keep her word."

As for the youth's business future, Lindy made it rather plain that he intends to remain in aviation. In speaking to 100,000 persons gathered in the open air at Forest park Sunday, he said: "St. Louis is in a position to be the center of aviation in this country. With proper cooperation we can put St. Louis as the center of aviation in this country."

His use of the pronoun "we" in this instance was not taken to include his famous plane but rather as a reference to his St. Louis backers.

Spends Active Sunday.

The air hero spent an active Sunday. In the forenoon, he visited the U. S. Veterans' hospital at Jefferson barracks, outside the city of St. Louis. In the afternoon, he flew his plane over teh city and later attended the Forest park celebration.

At night, he attended a municipal opera in the open air at Forest park, while an audience of 12,000 cheered him. Other thousands, unable to get seats, stood outside to cheer.

Lindy became a full fledged colonel during the day. He received two commissions, one as a colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve corps from Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, and another, as a colonel in the Missouri national guard, from Governor Sam A. Baker.

The official functions here ended last night but Lindy has accepted an invitation to attend a dinner of the industrial club of St. Louis, Tuesday night. This organization raised $1,000,000 to advertise St. Louis. After that, Lindy will be free to tour the country.

U. S. Naval Proposals

limitation for Great Britain and the United States would be 250,000 as against 150,000 for Japan. In the submarine class 90,000 tons was proposed as the limit for Great Britain and the United States as against 54,000 for Japan.

In this connection, Hugh S. Gibson, chairman of the American delegation, informed his British and Japanese colleagues that the United States is willing to consider the abolition of all submarines if a world agreement to that effect can be negotiated. France and Italy, however, refused to entertain such a proposal at the Washington conference and as they are not active participants in the present conference it is assumed that the abolition of submarines cannot be accomplished here.

What Program Means.

If the American plan were adopted and if the limit of cruisers were fixed at 300,000 tons, and of destroyers at 250,000 tons, the United States would have to scrap approximately 62,000 tons of vessels of either the cruiser or the destroyer type and 80,000 additional tons in these classes upon completion of cruisers now being built. In Great Britain, if her present cruiser building program were completed, would have to scrap approximately 40,000 tons of the cruiser and destroyer class.

On the basis of a submarine limitation of 90,000 tons for the United States and Great Britain and 54,000 for Japan, the United States upon the completion of her present building program would have to scrap approximately 3,900 tons of submarines; Great Britain and Japan would be required to scrap none.

The proposed treaty provides for a gradual system of replacement of old vessels with new ones.

The American program, while it apparently makes the Unitd States sacrifice more actual tonnage than the other powers, nevertheless has considerable material advantages from the standpoint of American naval efficiency. The United States navy today is greatly overstocked with destroyers that are now tied up and rusting at their docks at San Diego and in the York river at Jamestown, Va. If the American program is accepted by Great Britain and Japan, these destroyers will be sacrificed for new and up-to-date crusier tonnage, the American navy bein now considerably deficient in light cruiser strength.

Gibson's proposals were immediately followed by Br[illegible] and Japanese suggestions.

Great Britain suggested an eleven point program centering about a reduction in the tonnage and armament of capital ships.

Japan proposed that there be no maximum limit for the tonnage of individual vessels.

Frown on Britain's Proposals.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Great Britain's counter proposals to the American naval program, presented at Geneva today, met an unfavorable reception in Washington.

Public comment was, of course, withheld, but frank criticism of the British suggestion was voiced privately by naval experts and officials intimately concerned with the world naval situation.

The heart of the British program is considered to be the suggestion that the tonnage of cruisers be limited to 7,500, and that the armament be reduced from 8-inch guns to 6-inch guns.

Naval experts considered this proposal a clever move on the part of Britain's experts to gain for their country a marked advantage in cruiser strength. The "joker" in it is that Britain circles the globe with her naval bases, and long cruising radius is not vitally necessary to her because of the comparatively short distances between her bases.

PLAN TO HONOR MYRON T. HERRICK

UCLEVELAND, June 20.—Plans for a great demonstration here in honor of Myron T. Herrick, when the ambassador comes home from Paris late this month, were being pushed today. It is hoped that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will accept an invitation to be present, to greet Herrick, who acted as host to the famous flyer, following the latter's flight to France.

POISONOUS RUM KILLS THREE

NEW YORK, June 20.—A deluge of poisonous liquor struck New York city over the week-end, taking a toll of three dead and 11 critically ill.

The dead are Frederick Marlin, 58, John Reilly, 45, and Mrs. Hannah Huddy, 34.

Bathers "Conservative."

You can introduce a bath into a village, but you cannot make the villagers bathe in it, is about the conclusion drawn by Rev. Gordon Smythe, rector in the village of Stow St. Mary, England. The community of four farmers and their 100 workers raised $1,000 for a new schoolhouse, and the enterprising rector collected a sufficient amount in addition to install two modern baths. Tubs have been the only bathing places of the villagers, and they were "conservative," as the rector explained, about using the new tubs. He, however, has hopes of inducing some of the leaders to encourage the children to take a bath at the schoolhouse and thus start the fashion.

Grocers who profiteer are now penalized by the Paris police, who prohibit the offenders from displaying their wares on pavements in front of their stores.

In spite of the $3,000,000 cyclone and flood damage to its sugar-cane, Queensland expects a bumper sugar crop worth $30,000,000 this season.

VIENNA HONORS CHAMBERLIN, LEVINE WHO GET GOLD MEDALS

New York-Germany Airmen Greeted by Premier Seipel.

ATTEND LUNCHEON

Americans Will Fly to Prague on Thursday.

VIENNA, June 20.—Under an escort of mounted police and hailed by admiring throngs the two American airmen, Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, drove through the streets of Vienna in state today.

Accompanied by United States Minister Washburn the two fliers went to the governmental palace where they were received in audience by Premier Seipel, who gave them a warm greeting in the name of the Austrian government.

A change having been made in the program President Hainisch received the flyers today, after they had been received by Premier Seipel. He presented both flyers with gold medals, declaring "your achievement is for all humanity and therefore for Austria also. We greet you with this symbol of our appreciation."

Wives Rest at Hotels.

Mayor Seitz of Vienna entertains the flyers at an official dinner tonight.

On Wednesday the flyers will be entertained with a tea at the American legation.

On Thursday Chamberlin and Levine will fly to Prague, where President Masaryk has postponed his vacation in order to receive them.

Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine remained at their hotels today, resting and recuperating from their strenuous flight from Berlin yesterday.

15,000 Austrians Cheer.

Chamberlin and Levine arrived last night in a heavy rain storm, but even the disagreeable weather failed to dampen the spirits of 15,000 excited and admiring Austrians who welcomed the Americans at Aspen field, just outside the city.

So demonstrative did the crowd become that the police lost all control. The Austrians surged around the Americans cheering and waving hats while a band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine flew in another machine.

Receives Diamond Studded Medals.

When word was received from Berlin; "They're off," a crowd of 50,000 gathered at the flying field, but all except about 15,000 departed when rain began to fall. The Americans received a continuous ovation all the way from the air deport to the Hotel Imperial. Before leaving the field both airmen were presented with diamond studded medals by the Aero club of Austria.

Chamberlin and Levine expect to visit Budapest, Warsaw, Paris and possibly Rome before they complete their "swing round the circle." It has been decided not to fly to Moscow.

Byrd Defers Hop-off

Whether Byrd will be satisfied with a hop to Paris, without going further, was a matter of conjecture today. The belief persists that he will attempt something more spectacular, although Byrd says his original plans have not been changed. It is reported that when Byrd gets to Paris, he will make another take off—perhaps to some other large city, or back to America.

"Nothing will be decided until after we get to Paris," said Byrd.

CLEVELAND, June 20.—Herman Baker, 19, local cameraman, was to arrive at Roosevelt Field, N. Y. today where he said he would attempt to join Commander R. E. Byrd, who is awaiting favorable weather before hopping off for a flight to Paris. Baker declared he knew Byrd well, and said he had taken aerial photos in California, with Byrd as his pilot. He was not discouraged by reports that Byrd's plane was probably "booked full."

"Take me along as motion picture man on your trip," he wired Byrd, just before leaving Cleveland. "I'll take enough film to supply all news reels."

President Coolidge May Get Draft of Farm Relief Bill

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 20.—President Coolidge, according to all indications, will leave the Black Hills of South Dakota this fall with a draft of a farm relief bill in his pocket, which will satisfy a great number of the farmers of the west, or at least be of such a nature as to be palatable.

Summering here in the heart of the region that fought so vigorously for the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill with its equalization fee and alleged "price-fixing features, the president already apparently has made long strides toward winning over the western agrarians.

Named Akron's Acting Postmaster.

Truman Cain Fined $50 and Costs, Goes To County Jail

Truman Cain was fined $50 and costs and committed to the county jail at Lisbon until the fine and costs are paid when he pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication today before Municipal Judge Hanley. Cain, who was arrested on Second street by Patrolman Haley, Saturday afternoon, had promised to leave town when he appeared before Judge Hanley on an intoxication charge Friday.

John O. Taylor was fined $10 and costs when found guilty upon a charge of disorderly conduct by refusing to obey orders of an officer.

Taylor was taken into charge early Sunday morning by Patrolman Curran after one of the teams belonging to the West carnival was struck by an automobile near the carnival grounds. After obtaining a description of the car, Curran came to the Diamond where he found Taylor. He took him to the carnival grounds, but the carnival man could not identify Taylor's machine.

Taylor, it is charged, became abusive and refused to obey the officers' orders. He was taken to the city jail in Curran's automobile parked near the show grounds.

Five Hurt in Crashes

The Chevrolet is said to have sideswiped the Brown car, a Studebaker sedan. The big machine left the cement roadway and crashed into a telephone pole.

Morris, his wife and his father-in-law were brought to the City hospital in another car. Brown, Miss Wood, the Morris baby, Goodwin and Sainer were unhurt. Brown hurried to Lisbon where he notified Sheriff Wright of the crash. Wright returned to the scene of the crash but the occupants of the smaller car could not be found.

The Studebaker car was wrecked while the Chevrolet machine was also badly damaged. Both cars were taken to the Crubaugh garage in Lisbon.

Touring Car Overturns.

Benson, driving a Ford sedan, and accompanied by Mays, was coming down the Canton hill near the westerly approach to the Canton bridge, Lisbon, at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon when it is claimed they were forced off the road in order to avoid a collision with an automobile driven by L. A. Nolling, Kensington, which was passing a third car going in a westerly direction.

Benson and Mays rolled over an embankment in the machine, which turned turtle.

The injured men were taken to the New Lisbon hotel, where Dr. Jackson Searles attended them.

A Star touring car, owned by Jesse Lennens, of East Liverpool, who was accompanied by two other men, overturned on the Lincoln highway near the Grange hall, west of Lisbon, Sunday afternoon after a tire on the machine blew out. The machine stopped when it struck a telephone pole. The men were returning from Hanoverton when the accident occurred. No one was hurt.

Roadster Upsets.

Ford roadster, occupied by Donald Willis and Thomas Pusey, East Liverpool, overturned on the Lisbon-Salem road, about four miles north of Lisbon, at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. They were returning from Lisbon when, it is reported, they were forced off the road by another car. Neither of the youths was hurt. The car was taken to a Lisbon garage.

Studebaker driven by H. E. Morris, Lisbon, was damaged when it was struck by a Chevrolet coupe, driven by an unidentified woman near the Hamilton drug store, Lisbon, late Saturday afternoon. The Chevrolet was traveling east on Lincoln way when it crashed into the side of the Morris car which was driven into Lincoln way from the street back of the post-office. Running board and one fender on the Morris car and two front fenders on the Chevrolet car were damaged. No one was hurt.

Chevrolet sedan driven by Harold Bolder, Canton, crashed into the traffic light in the Lisbon square at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon overturning the signal. Police, who investigated, released Bolder after he arranged to pay $55 for damage to the light.

Worker Loses Two Fingers in Clay Plant Accident

Arthur Nightingale, 29, Irondale, suffered the amputation of two fingers on his left hand at the City hospital at 10:30 o'clock this morning as the result of an accident at the plant of the Banfield Clay company, Irondale, where he is employed. Dr. Neitz attended him.

COUPLE FACES POISON CHARGE

Charged with the murder of Clifford Cox, 12, Arthur Walser, 29, and his child-wife, Dorothea, 16, of Fairmount, Ind., both shown above, must stand trial in September at Marion, Ind. The Walsers have pleaded not guilty. The prosecution contends that Walser directed his wife, a cousin of the boy, to prepare Paris green "lemonade" and to entice the boy to drink it, so that they might collect $445 insurance carried on his life and buy clothes for their two months old baby. In the center is a view of the Walser home where Clifford took the fatal drink just after he showed his school promotion card to Mrs. Walser. Below is a photo of the insurance policy taken out for Clifford by Mrs. Walser a few weeks before his death.

VATICAN HINTS PEACE MOVE IN WAR IN CHINA

Encyclical to Consistory Praises Churchmen in Mexico.

LAUDS FAITHFUL

Refers to "Imported Subversive Doctrines" in Chinese Horrors.

ROME, June 20.—Possible attempts by the Vatican to end the civil war in China, were hinted at today by the pope in an encyclical to the consistory now in session.

The pope devoted most of the encyclical to the Chinese warfare, and to praise of the churches in Mexico for their attitude in the religious controversy there. He also made references to the French Nationalists of the Action Francaise.

After deploring the horrors of the Chinese civil war, the pope expressed the opinion that these horrors are due less to the Chinese people, whom he described as peace loving, than to "imported subversive doctrines."

Reaffirming the Vatican's love and regard for the ancient nation of China, the pope praised the missionaries and Christians for their faithful service in China, and intimated that he is now considering launching a peace appeal to end the warfare.

The espicopate of the United States also came in for papal praise in connection with the Mexican controversy.

Throughout the entire encyclical there was a plea for peace and prayers that troubled conditions now existent may soon pass away.

COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH PLANS BUSINESS FUTURE

PLANS AERIAL TOUR IN HIS FAMOUS PLANE

Atlantic Ace Will Link Future to Commercial Aviation.

ST. LOUIS HUB

Hero of Skies May Visit 50 Different Cities.

By William K. Hutchinson.

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Turning aside from public functions and popular acclaim, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today began planning his business future and an aerial tour of the country in the interest of aviation.

While offers, involving millions of dollars and a variety of business opportunities have been showered upon America's air idol, it was definitely learned that he intends to link his future to commercial aviation. His closest associates revealed that Lindy now plans to center his business activities on the development of trans-Atlantic commercial air lines, with St. Louis as a hub. He will make his headquarters in St. Louis too, the city which he frequently has described as his "home."

The first stops on the air king's scheduled tour of the country will be announced in a few days. He will accept as many as he humanly can of the 50 invitations given him to visit different cities, it was said. His tentative route will be arranged, too, so as to permit him to fly over the maximum number of cities and towns in order that the greatest possible number of people will be able to see his plane in flight if they cannot get a glimpse of the hero in person.

Deliberations Secret.

Lindy was reported anxious to visit all sections of the country. The invitations already extended him, if accepted, would carry him from Detroit on the Canadian border to New Orleans on the gulf coast, from San Francisco on the Pacific to Boston on the Atlantic. If the youth has his way, he undoubtedly will visit them all.

The tour, however, will be arranged on the advice of Lindy's financial backers. He attended one conference last night at the palatial suburban home of Harry Hall Knight, millionaire St. Lousian. Besides the host, the conference included Harold M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Major William B. Robertson, head of the air mail line on which "Slim" served as a pilot, and B. F. Mahoney of San Diego. They were to meet again today.

These backers of the air hero shrouded their deliberations with secrecy. They declined to discuss his plans for the future but said an announcement would be made some time this week.

It was learned though that Lindy will leave St. Louis Wednesday or Thursday, although his destination was withheld. One report stated the air hero would fly back to Washington to confer with government experts over the technical descriptions written into the log of his trans-Atlantic flight.

Log of Flight.

Lindy will publish the log within a few weeks and his publishers were said to have urged him to complete the copy at once.

Lindy was concerned with another problem—the ultimate dispositon of his precious plane, "The Spirt of St. Louis." It was suggested to him that he turn it over as an exhibit to the national museum in Washington but Lindy would not commit himself. "I can't go into that now," was his reply.

Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, mother of the hero, who shares honors with him here, was scheduled to return to Detroit today. Her future was shrouded with mystery as friends of Lindy were understood to have urged her to give up her job as a school teacher in Detroit and come to live with him in St. Louis. Mrs. Lindbergh, however, has signed a contract to continue as a teacher next year in the Cass Technical High school at Detroit and recently said she "intended to keep her word."

As for the youth's business future, Lindy made it rather plain that he intends to remain in aviation. In speaking to 100,000 persons gathered in the open air at Forest park Sunday, he said: "St. Louis is in a position to be the center of aviation in this country. With proper cooperation we can put St. Louis as the center of aviation in this country."

His use of the pronoun "we" in this instance was not taken to include his famous plane but rather as a reference to his St. Louis backers.

Spends Active Sunday.

The air hero spent an active Sunday. In the forenoon, he visited the U. S. Veterans' hospital at Jefferson barracks, outside the city of St. Louis. In the afternoon, he flew his plane over teh city and later attended the Forest park celebration.

At night, he attended a municipal opera in the open air at Forest park, while an audience of 12,000 cheered him. Other thousands, unable to get seats, stood outside to cheer.

Lindy became a full fledged colonel during the day. He received two commissions, one as a colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve corps from Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, and another, as a colonel in the Missouri national guard, from Governor Sam A. Baker.

The official functions here ended last night but Lindy has accepted an invitation to attend a dinner of the industrial club of St. Louis, Tuesday night. This organization raised $1,000,000 to advertise St. Louis. After that, Lindy will be free to tour the country.

U. S. Naval Proposals

limitation for Great Britain and the United States would be 250,000 as against 150,000 for Japan. In the submarine class 90,000 tons was proposed as the limit for Great Britain and the United States as against 54,000 for Japan.

In this connection, Hugh S. Gibson, chairman of the American delegation, informed his British and Japanese colleagues that the United States is willing to consider the abolition of all submarines if a world agreement to that effect can be negotiated. France and Italy, however, refused to entertain such a proposal at the Washington conference and as they are not active participants in the present conference it is assumed that the abolition of submarines cannot be accomplished here.

What Program Means.

If the American plan were adopted and if the limit of cruisers were fixed at 300,000 tons, and of destroyers at 250,000 tons, the United States would have to scrap approximately 62,000 tons of vessels of either the cruiser or the destroyer type and 80,000 additional tons in these classes upon completion of cruisers now being built. In Great Britain, if her present cruiser building program were completed, would have to scrap approximately 40,000 tons of the cruiser and destroyer class.

On the basis of a submarine limitation of 90,000 tons for the United States and Great Britain and 54,000 for Japan, the United States upon the completion of her present building program would have to scrap approximately 3,900 tons of submarines; Great Britain and Japan would be required to scrap none.

The proposed treaty provides for a gradual system of replacement of old vessels with new ones.

The American program, while it apparently makes the Unitd States sacrifice more actual tonnage than the other powers, nevertheless has considerable material advantages from the standpoint of American naval efficiency. The United States navy today is greatly overstocked with destroyers that are now tied up and rusting at their docks at San Diego and in the York river at Jamestown, Va. If the American program is accepted by Great Britain and Japan, these destroyers will be sacrificed for new and up-to-date crusier tonnage, the American navy bein now considerably deficient in light cruiser strength.

Gibson's proposals were immediately followed by Br[illegible] and Japanese suggestions.

Great Britain suggested an eleven point program centering about a reduction in the tonnage and armament of capital ships.

Japan proposed that there be no maximum limit for the tonnage of individual vessels.

Frown on Britain's Proposals.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Great Britain's counter proposals to the American naval program, presented at Geneva today, met an unfavorable reception in Washington.

Public comment was, of course, withheld, but frank criticism of the British suggestion was voiced privately by naval experts and officials intimately concerned with the world naval situation.

The heart of the British program is considered to be the suggestion that the tonnage of cruisers be limited to 7,500, and that the armament be reduced from 8-inch guns to 6-inch guns.

Naval experts considered this proposal a clever move on the part of Britain's experts to gain for their country a marked advantage in cruiser strength. The "joker" in it is that Britain circles the globe with her naval bases, and long cruising radius is not vitally necessary to her because of the comparatively short distances between her bases.

PLAN TO HONOR MYRON T. HERRICK

UCLEVELAND, June 20.—Plans for a great demonstration here in honor of Myron T. Herrick, when the ambassador comes home from Paris late this month, were being pushed today. It is hoped that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will accept an invitation to be present, to greet Herrick, who acted as host to the famous flyer, following the latter's flight to France.

POISONOUS RUM KILLS THREE

NEW YORK, June 20.—A deluge of poisonous liquor struck New York city over the week-end, taking a toll of three dead and 11 critically ill.

The dead are Frederick Marlin, 58, John Reilly, 45, and Mrs. Hannah Huddy, 34.

Bathers "Conservative."

You can introduce a bath into a village, but you cannot make the villagers bathe in it, is about the conclusion drawn by Rev. Gordon Smythe, rector in the village of Stow St. Mary, England. The community of four farmers and their 100 workers raised $1,000 for a new schoolhouse, and the enterprising rector collected a sufficient amount in addition to install two modern baths. Tubs have been the only bathing places of the villagers, and they were "conservative," as the rector explained, about using the new tubs. He, however, has hopes of inducing some of the leaders to encourage the children to take a bath at the schoolhouse and thus start the fashion.

Grocers who profiteer are now penalized by the Paris police, who prohibit the offenders from displaying their wares on pavements in front of their stores.

In spite of the $3,000,000 cyclone and flood damage to its sugar-cane, Queensland expects a bumper sugar crop worth $30,000,000 this season.

VIENNA HONORS CHAMBERLIN, LEVINE WHO GET GOLD MEDALS

New York-Germany Airmen Greeted by Premier Seipel.

ATTEND LUNCHEON

Americans Will Fly to Prague on Thursday.

VIENNA, June 20.—Under an escort of mounted police and hailed by admiring throngs the two American airmen, Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, drove through the streets of Vienna in state today.

Accompanied by United States Minister Washburn the two fliers went to the governmental palace where they were received in audience by Premier Seipel, who gave them a warm greeting in the name of the Austrian government.

A change having been made in the program President Hainisch received the flyers today, after they had been received by Premier Seipel. He presented both flyers with gold medals, declaring "your achievement is for all humanity and therefore for Austria also. We greet you with this symbol of our appreciation."

Wives Rest at Hotels.

Mayor Seitz of Vienna entertains the flyers at an official dinner tonight

On Wednesday the flyers will be entertained with a tea at the American legation.

On Thursday Chamberlin and Levine will fly to Prague, where President Masaryk has postponed his vacation in order to receive them.

Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine remained at their hotels today, resting and recuperating from their strenuous flight from Berlin yesterday.

15,000 Austrians Cheer.

Chamberlin and Levine arrived last night in a heavy rain storm, but even the disagreeable weather failed to dampen the spirits of 15,000 excited and admiring Austrians who welcomed the Americans at Aspen field, just outside the city.

So demonstrative did the crowd become that the police lost all control. The Austrians surged around the Americans cheering and waving hats while a band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine flew in another machine.

Receives Diamond Studded Medals.

When word was received from Berlin; "They're off," a crowd of 50,000 gathered at the flying field, but all except about 15,000 departed when rain began to fall. The Americans received a continuous ovation all the way from the air deport to the Hotel Imperial. Before leaving the field both airmen were presented with diamond studded medals by the Aero club of Austria.

Chamberlin and Levine expect to visit Budapest, Warsaw, Paris and possibly Rome before they complete their "swing round the circle." It has been decided not to fly to Moscow.

Byrd Defers Hop-off

Whether Byrd will be satisfied with a hop to Paris, without going further, was a matter of conjecture today. The belief persists that he will attempt something more spectacular, although Byrd says his original plans have not been changed. It is reported that when Byrd gets to Paris, he will make another take off—perhaps to some other large city, or back to America.

"Nothing will be decided until after we get to Paris," said Byrd.

CLEVELAND, June 20.—Herman Baker, 19, local cameraman, was to arrive at Roosevelt Field, N. Y. today where he said he would attempt to join Commander R. E. Byrd, who is awaiting favorable weather before hopping off for a flight to Paris. Baker declared he knew Byrd well, and said he had taken aerial photos in California, with Byrd as his pilot. He was not discouraged by reports that Byrd's plane was probably "booked full."

"Take me along as motion picture man on your trip," he wired Byrd, just before leaving Cleveland. "I'll take enough film to supply all news reels."

President Coolidge May Get Draft of Farm Relief Bill

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 20.—President Coolidge, according to all indications, will leave the Black Hills of South Dakota this fall with a draft of a farm relief bill in his pocket, which will satisfy a great number of the farmers of the west, or at least be of such a nature as to be palatable.

Summering here in the heart of the region that fought so vigorously for the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill with its equalization fee and alleged "price-fixing features, the president already apparently has made long strides toward winning over the western agrarians.

Truman Cain Fined $50 and Costs, Goes To County Jail

Truman Cain was fined $50 and costs and committed to the county jail at Lisbon until the fine and costs are paid when he pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication today before Municipal Judge Hanley. Cain, who was arrested on Second street by Patrolman Haley, Saturday afternoon, had promised to leave town when he appeared before Judge Hanley on an intoxication charge Friday.

John O. Taylor was fined $10 and costs when found guilty upon a charge of disorderly conduct by refusing to obey orders of an officer.

Taylor was taken into charge early Sunday morning by Patrolman Curran after one of the teams belonging to the West carnival was struck by an automobile near the carnival grounds. After obtaining a description of the car, Curran came to the Diamond where he found Taylor. He took him to the carnival grounds, but the carnival man could not identify Taylor's machine.

Taylor, it is charged, became abusive and refused to obey the officers' orders. He was taken to the city jail in Curran's automobile parked near the show grounds.

Five Hurt in Crashes

The Chevrolet is said to have sideswiped the Brown car, a Studebaker sedan. The big machine left the cement roadway and crashed into a telephone pole.

Morris, his wife and his father-in-law were brought to the City hospital in another car. Brown, Miss Wood, the Morris baby, Goodwin and Sainer were unhurt. Brown hurried to Lisbon where he notified Sheriff Wright of the crash. Wright returned to the scene of the crash but the occupants of the smaller car could not be found.

The Studebaker car was wrecked while the Chevrolet machine was also badly damaged. Both cars were taken to the Crubaugh garage in Lisbon.

Touring Car Overturns.

Benson, driving a Ford sedan, and accompanied by Mays, was coming down the Canton hill near the westerly approach to the Canton bridge, Lisbon, at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon when it is claimed they were forced off the road in order to avoid a collision with an automobile driven by L. A. Nolling, Kensington, which was passing a third car going in a westerly direction.

Benson and Mays rolled over an embankment in the machine, which turned turtle.

The injured men were taken to the New Lisbon hotel, where Dr. Jackson Searles attended them.

A Star touring car, owned by Jesse Lennens, of East Liverpool, who was accompanied by two other men, overturned on the Lincoln highway near the Grange hall, west of Lisbon, Sunday afternoon after a tire on the machine blew out. The machine stopped when it struck a telephone pole. The men were returning from Hanoverton when the accident occurred. No one was hurt.

Roadster Upsets.

Ford roadster, occupied by Donald Willis and Thomas Pusey, East Liverpool, overturned on the Lisbon-Salem road, about four miles north of Lisbon, at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. They were returning from Lisbon when, it is reported, they were forced off the road by another car. Neither of the youths was hurt. The car was taken to a Lisbon garage.

Studebaker driven by H. E. Morris, Lisbon, was damaged when it was struck by a Chevrolet coupe, driven by an unidentified woman near the Hamilton drug store, Lisbon, late Saturday afternoon. The Chevrolet was traveling east on Lincoln way when it crashed into the side of the Morris car which was driven into Lincoln way from the street back of the post-office. Running board and one fender on the Morris car and two front fenders on the Chevrolet car were damaged. No one was hurt.

Chevrolet sedan driven by Harold Bolder, Canton, crashed into the traffic light in the Lisbon square at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon overturning the signal. Police, who investigated, released Bolder after he arranged to pay $55 for damage to the light.

Worker Loses Two Fingers in Clay Plant Accident

COUPLE FACES POISON CHARGE

Charged with the murder of Clifford Cox, 12, Arthur Walser, 29, and his child-wife, Dorothea, 16, of Fairmount, Ind., both shown above, must stand trial in September at Marion, Ind. The Walsers have pleaded not guilty. The prosecution contends that Walser directed his wife, a cousin of the boy, to prepare Paris green "lemonade" and to entice the boy to drink it, so that they might collect $445 insurance carried on his life and buy clothes for their two months old baby. In the center is a view of the Walser home where Clifford took the fatal drink just after he showed his school promotion card to Mrs. Walser. Each received a prize of $10, the prize money for all contest winners having been donated by Charles W. Costello of Lisbon.

The declaiming contest was a feature of the eighth grade commencement exercises where 340 children were granted diplomas, these being presented by County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard.

A crowd that filled the church showed keen interest in the event, the wet weather proving no barrier.

Judges of the declaiming contest were F. J. Sewell, superintendent of schools, Columbiana; E. P. Stonebraker, of the Leetonia schools, and C. A. White, of the Lincoln school, Lisbon.

Miss Faloon had for her subject "'Stell at the Picture Show." The second award in the sixth grade contest went to Alice Gamble of Butler township, whose subject was "Aunt Jurusha Visits the City." The third award in this contest went to Lucy Elwonger of Unity township, whose subject was "The Mourning Veil."

In the seventh-eighth grade contest the second award went to Willis Gobely, whose theme was "Mickey Goes to the Movies." The third award was given Dorothy Boyer of Center township, whose subject was "She Says She Studies."

Second place winners were awarded a prize of $8 and the third place winners received a prize of $6. Three others in each grade contest who were not awarded prize money were awarded $2 each for honorary mention.

Two trumpet solos were given by Austin Kuhn, a '27 graduate of Lisbon high, and vocal solos were sung by Frank Pritchard, also of Lisbon.

The invocation was pronounced by Rev. R. J. Bennett, pastor of the Lisbon Christian church.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX.

Now each succeeding yard seemed to grow steeper till at last he was literally lifting himself up the trail, step by step, wondering how those ahead were able to maintain such rapid progress through the night; he wondered, too, if it might not be the part of wisdom to drop temporarily his role of wizard and make himself into a fighting man on the theory that perhaps this would get him nearer to the Temple, or perhaps actually within in it at a minimum of risk to his own person.

One of those ordinary incidents of military life decided him. Some marching soldier up ahead had dropped his rifle and now Larry's stumbling feet kicked against it; he picked it up and threw it across his shoulder, then paused long enough to make necessary changes in his apparel, rewinding the rezza, or muslin strips, of his turban and shortening his burnouse.

He was not afraid anyone would recognize him by looking into his face, for not his face, but his wizard's deportment had served to identify him in the past and now he had effectually remedied this matter. However, to further assure non-recognition, he drew down his brows until he was scowling blackly and as he walked along he held them that way until he got used to the strained feeling. At last, satisfied that he had made all the preparations possible to disguise himself, he accelerated his pace until he was almost running up what had now turned into a fairly smooth inclined surface, still leading upward. Just ahead he saw the rearmost ranks of the mokhaznis, and a few minutes later he joined them. A burly Berber eyed him dourly, his bearded lips curling.

Instantly, playing his part, Larry's brows became even more forbidding in their dark scowl, and his voice, purposely made a little raucous, growled

"If the mokhaznis thinks so let him drop behind with me, and let Allah decide which is the child."

Now a khalifa, overhearing this verbal passage, spoke up:

"Of whose men are you that you may quit your ranks at will and march with the aska?"

Larry thought swiftly; he knew no single soul in all this cavalcade; nor was he accoutered in the exact counterpart of any one branch of the fighters in this long line of march. Obviously, he must represent himself, while of the moualin el-makhala, also as of something slightly apart from them. Mentally he cursed himself for his stupidity in not having thought of his new identity a little earlier, but it was too late now for regrets—besides, he had not anticipated any clashes, even of the verbal variety, this early in the game.

A thought flashed through his mind, engendered by the message of the one-eyed Youcoub el-Bachir. The Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan had left word through him that Larry's road still lay south, and who could the Sheikh el-Hassan be-save only Omar ben Medjad And, if Omar ben Medjad, then it was reasonable to assume that this astonishing man knew all about this armed movement in the night. Was it not also reasonable to suppose that he was near at hand or, in all probability, actually in the ranks And, finally, was it not reasonable to believe these men would have heard of this sheikh? He decided to risk it.

"I am of no company, khalifa," he answered, his tones surly. "I am of the fraigua of the mighty sheikh Tahar el-Hassan."

The other's brows bent in sudden respect and he bowed slightly.

"You serve the sheikh. I hear he brings one, two thousand men to the Temple as his share in the Great Event. So, then, you are one of his famous Swords of the South. But I had not thought him arrived yet. Perhaps you go ahead to make ready for his coming"

Gratefully Larry seized on this apparently guileless opening.

"The Sheikh Tahar el-hassan follows not far behind me, khalifa. As you say, I but precede him, that I may tell men he comes and that I may make ready a place against his arrival."

Now the khalifa smiled grimly and his face grew dark. His next words were ominous.

"Verily you are the greatest liar Allah ever left uncrucified, for does not every man in this mahalla know that he is a Sword of the South? Know, too, that the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan marches in the van? Does not every man of us know our sheikh scorns a bodygaurd? Ha, fdouli, pretender, you have left yourself in for a pretty mess. Now, by Allah, it is in my mind that you are a spy of the Marabout Group. As such it is my duty to seize you."

Larry had a sinking of the heart and realized he had stepped witlessly into a clever trap the lieutenant had laid for him. The khalifa turned and called to several nearby soldiers, who hastened to him.

"Seize this imposter, for verily I believe he is either a spy of the infidels or of the holy villains who sit at the Temple. He says he is of the guard of Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan. Away with him to the sheikh himself and let there be a judgment."

Larry felt himself seized and held by rough hands. His rifle and sword were removed, but there was no effort made at searching beneath his burnouse. Swiftly, a command went up the line and a lane opened for Larry and his captors to move forward. It seemed to him that he was an hour or more in passing through the columns that hemmed him in on either side; but at last he was halted and bade to remain silent, while one of his captors departed hastily toward the front of the line.

Larry realized that a test was coming. If he were mistaken in the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan being in reality Omar ben Medjad, it was likely that serious results would come; his life probably would be forfeit. He had little faith that the ring on his finger would save him, should the sheikh really be other than Omar. But if, as he firmly believed and suspected, the two were one, then , he felt, he would have little to fear.

Picturization of Best Selling Novel on Ceramic Slate.

Samuel Goldwyn, whose fondness for best selling novels as preferred subjects for big films dates back to his pioneer film-making days, has done it again. The maker of "Stella Dallas" now presents "The Winning of Barbara Worth," a Henry King Production based on the Harold Bell Wright best selling novel which sold into two million copies. The film comes to the Ceramic theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The producers of the film, which boasts of Vilma Banky in the Barbara Worth role and Ronald Colman as the Eastern engineer, Willard Holmes, estimate that ten million people have already read the novel. There were, first of all, the two million purchasers of the original Wright $2 book, Then additional millions read the serialization of the novel in more than one hundred newspapers in the United States alone. And now, synchronized with release of "The Winning of Barbara Worth" by United Artists Corporation comes the popular-priced A. L. Burt Co., photoplay edition, with more thousands reading the Wright story.

Samuel Goldwyn was so anxious to have the benefit of the ten million readers of Harold Bell Wright's tale that he paid, according to his own admisson, $125,000 for the screen rights to "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

The airplane service between Vienna and Trieste now has flights twice daily except Sunday.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX.

Now each succeeding yard seemed to grow steeper till at last he was literally lifting himself up the trail, step by step, wondering how those ahead were able to maintain such rapid progress through the night; he wondered, too, if it might not be the part of wisdom to drop temporarily his role of wizard and make himself into a fighting man on the theory that perhaps this would get him nearer to the Temple, or perhaps actually within in it at a minimum of risk to his own person.

One of those ordinary incidents of military life decided him. Some marching soldier up ahead had dropped his rifle and now Larry's stumbling feet kicked against it; he picked it up and threw it across his shoulder, then paused long enough to make necessary changes in his apparel, rewinding the rezza, or muslin strips, of his turban and shortening his burnouse.

OHIO GOLFERS CLASH FOR AMATEUR TITLE ON DAYTON COURSE

Tunney to Re-enter Ring In Defense of Title In September

Will Face Winner of Dempsy-Sharkey Go, Perhaps in Chicago

Offers From Baltimore and Philadelphia Also Under Consideration; $40 Will be Top Price; Two Jacks to Fight July 21.

NEW YORK, June 20. — World heavyweight champion Gene Tunney will defend his title against the winner of the Jack-Dempsey-Jack Sharkey battle on or about September 10, possibly at Chicago it was learned here today.

The Dempsey-Sharkey bout is scheduled for the Yankee stadium in this city on July 21. Promoter Tex Rickard, who is planning the heavyweight struggles, is understood to favor Chicago as the site of the title contest. September 10 falls upon a Saturday. If the contest is staged on that date it probably will take place in the afternoon.

Rickard has not definitely decided on Chicago. He has offers from Baltimore and Philadelphia under consideration. The only definite decision the promoter has made is the elimination of this city as a battle ground. Rickard has been compelled to forego plans for a local bout because of the fact that the Yankee stadium will not be available in September and he has no desire to delay the bout until October and gamble with the weather. Furthermore, Rickard finds he cannot charge admission prices here sufficiently high enough to float such a gigantic undertaking.

It is learned from reliable authority that he intends to charge a top price of $40 for the Tunney bout and will make all tickets at "even prices," the promoter shouldering the government tax, as he did with the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in Jersey City.

Rickard partly smoothed the way for the fistic climax he plans this season. Jess McMahon, Rickard's match maker, held a lengthy conference with Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, and afterward Buckley authorized the announcement he had accepted terms for the Boston Lithuanian to fight Dempsey on July 21 in the Yankee stadium. The session dispelled the report of difficulties in getting Sharkey to agree to fight Dempsey.

BATTLE FOR FLAG LEAD IN CHICAGO

Cubs Need Two Wins to Jump in Front of Bucs.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Pittsburgh Pirates take on the Cubs in games at Chicago this afternoon that may have an important bearing on the pennant race.

The Cubs smothered the Bucs yesterday, 14 to 7, Charley Root winning his twelfth game and Earl Webb scouting his eleventh homer. Paul Waner hit safely in his 22nd consecutive game.

Jack Scott, the big iron man from Philadelphia, tried to beat the Reds twice and almost got away with it. Jack won the first game, 3 to 1, on Thompson's triple, but tired in the nightcap and Rixey blanked the Phils, 8 to 0.

Other good bits of pitching were contributed by Benton and Clarkson of the Giants and Joe Shaute of Cleveland. The New York pair held the Cardinals to four hits and won, 4 to 3, on homers by Hornsby and Reese.

KNOW NOTHING OF TEX'S PLANS

CHICAGO, June 20. — Members of the "who's who" in Illinois boxing circles have no official information regarding Tex Rickard's proposed plan to stage a heavyweight championship match in Chicago, a canvass of promoters and members of the boxing commission revealed today.

The men who rule the game here stated their first and only information concerning a world title bout here was contained in press dispatches from New York. The reports, however, have caused great excitement among local fight fans.

Promoter James Mullen, often referred to as the "Tex Rickard of the middle west," refused to comment on the poaching threat of his eastern rival.

TILDEN IS WINNER AT WIMBLEDON

Inaugurates Net Matches by Defeating Briton.

By F. A. Wray.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 20.—"Big Bill" Tilden inaugurated the Wimbledon tennis championship today with an easy victory over G. A. Pratt of England.

Playing before a huge and fashionable crowd in the centre court, Tilden ran out a victory at 6-2, 6-1, 6-0, in a most casual manner.

Pratt had just barely managed to qualify for the tournament, Tilden playing in a light hearted manner, occasionally drove into the net to make the score more interesting.

During the last set Tilden speeded up and amidst applause from the gallery displayed unusually fine tennis, scoring service ace after service ace.

"I am feeling fine and fit, and am striving and hoping to win," Tilden told the International News Service after the match.

Asked about the condition of his knee, Tilden replied, "that's a matter I don't talk about. You saw me play."

For the first time since the World war, a German player appeared at Wimbledon today. O. Froitzheim, the pre-war international player, met J. G. Collins, the Scottish champion. The German won the first two sets by superb volleying and relentless placements, 7-5, 6-3.

Collins rallied and won the third set, 6-3.

BRAZIL, Ind., June 20.—Heavy dust at the Sunflower race track was blamed for the tragedy in the first five-mile elimination automobile race in which the car of Gerald Bush, 31, of Iowa City, Iowa, crashed into two other cars and then plunged into the spectators.

Bush was killed and three spectators were injured.

COLLEGE CREWS TRAIN ON HUDSON

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 20.—For the first time since training began for the intercollegiate regatta here on June 29, all 19 crews which will participate were on the Hudson today for workouts. The new arrivals are the Wisconsin freshmen and the Washington and navy crews.

Shaute yielded only four hits against the White Sox, winning, 3 to 2, over Ted Lyons, who had pitched nine straight victories. The Sox now trail the Yankees by seven games and the Yanks already are figuring on ways and means of spending their world series boodle.

Cubs Have Something to Say About Race in National.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 20.—If the results of another international campaign mean anything, and usually they do, the New York Yankees almost may be conceded as the American league entry in the 1927 world series and the Chicago Cubs may be conceded a club that will have to be beaten in the National League race; it is now evident that they can't be talked out of it.

Anyhow, the Cubs, by winning twelve out of sixteen against the east and racing ahead to within a single game of the pace-setting Pirates, have served notice on any and all concerned that they are with the situation more or less permanently. And there are a surprising number of citizens concerned; they weren't early in April when the Cubs were considered slightly declasse but they are vitally concerned now because there is nothing else to be done about an outfit that plays .760 baseball through the last twenty days of the race.

The best the Pirates and Cardinals could do against the east was an average of .600. Their best, in fact was good but not good composite record of the three lent considerable aid and comfort to the notion that the National league pennant is going west for the third straight year.

Of course, it isn't too late for the Giants to make their long-deferred play for the title but since they are the only eastern club that means anything, and to date they haven't meant much, the idea that the west is due again will suffice until a better one turns up.

The Giants started west with the commendable ambition of finally declaring themselves by playing at least .700 baseball during the trip; instead, they won only six out of sixteen for an average of .375, which by the way, was exactly the average maintained by the entire east against the entire west. Even the Cincinnati Reds, the official sap team of the race to date, was able to win nine and lost seven during the intersectional meetings.

However, the eastern hemisphere of the American league circuit, clearly outpointed the west through the same period, largely due to the record of the Yankees. If the National league pennant is to go west, it seemed equally certain today that the American league championship was coming east.

For the Yankees, seven games in front regardless of their injuries, again won ten games in thirteen against the west, making their season's record 20 out of 26, and in case such a club isn't due, the east still has the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators as natural contenders. The former beat the west this time, nine out of fourteen, and the Senators did even better, winning ten out of sixteen.

Of course, the White Sox still are running second but no longer are they crowding the Yanks, after winning only one game in four at the stadium and only seven out of sixteen on the trip. The Sox, like a man with a broken head, are doing as well as can be expected and even better. They are almost a miracle, in fact, but they are not a champion outfit.

Joe Wells and Other Buckeye Stars Seek to Unseat Toledoan

Local Star Paired up With Rader Jewett in Pro-Amateur Best Ball Tourney Today; Opening Round to Start Tomorrow Morning.

J. M. Wells, of East Liverpool, veteran of countless golf struggles of local, state and national importance, twice wearer of Ohio's highest amateur laurels, will be found at the Miami Valley Country club in Dayton tomorrow morning when the 1927 state amateur championship officially gets under way.

Wells will be there with practically all of the other "regulars" who have been whacking the gutta percha in state tourneys over a wide range of years.

Singularly enough, this year's tourney lacks an outstanding favorite as the starting time nears, while there is sufficient brilliance and talent in the ranks of the contenders to make the tussle for the title a contest that will not be devoid of thrills.

Parker Campbell, of Toledo, will be the defending champion, having won the cup last summer at Westwood.

Ellsworth Augustus of Kirtland, and Dave Ogilvie, Jr., Ohio State Freshman, both Clevelanders, must be regarded among the strongest contenders.

Young Ogilvie was the sensation last year at Westwood and his shots will be watched by a large gallery, along with three other Cleveland youngsters, Joe Toth, Jack Cummins and Dick Morrow.

In the matter of home talent, Dayton has Vincent Hilton, who recently shot a record breaking 69 over the Miami course.

Jack Munro, Ned Handy, Frank Werner and Ken Wolcott will be there from Akron. Columbus sends the youngster, Alfred Sargeant. And Harold Weber, who never misses, will accompany Campbell in Toledo's official delegation.

Joe Wells will be paired with Rader Jewett, East Liverpool Country club professional, in the pro-amateur best ball tourney today.

W. E. Wells, Jr., brother of J. M. Wells, will attend the tournament.

OHIO GOLFERS CLASH FOR AMATEUR TITLE ON DAYTON COURSE

Tunney to Re-enter Ring In Defense of Title In September

Will Face Winner of Dempsy-Sharkey Go, Perhaps in Chicago

Offers From Baltimore and Philadelphia Also Under Consideration; $40 Will be Top Price; Two Jacks to Fight July 21.

NEW YORK, June 20. — World heavyweight champion Gene Tunney will defend his title against the winner of the Jack-Dempsey-Jack Sharkey battle on or about September 10, possibly at Chicago it was learned here today.

The Dempsey-Sharkey bout is scheduled for the Yankee stadium in this city on July 21. Promoter Tex Rickard, who is planning the heavweight struggles, is understood to favor Chicago as the site of the title contest. September 10 falls upon a Saturday. If the contest is staged on that date it probably will take place in the afternoon.

Rickard has not definitely decided on Chicago. He has offers from Baltimore and Philadelphia under consideration. The only definite decision the promoter has made is the elimination of this city as a battle ground. Rickard has been compelled to forego plans for a local bout because of the fact that the Yankee stadium will not be available in September and he has no desire to delay the bout until October and gamble with the weather. Furthermore, Rickard finds he cannot charge admission prices here sufficiently high enough to float such a gigantic undertaking.

It is learned from reliable authority that he intends to charge a top price of $40 for the Tunney bout and will make all tickets at "even prices," the promoter shouldering the government tax, as he did with the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in Jersey City.

Rickard partly smoothed the way for the fistic climax he plans this season. Jess McMahon, Rickard's match maker, held a lengthy conference with Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, and afterward Buckley authorized the announcement he had accepted terms for the Boston Lithuanian to fight Dempsey on July 21 in the Yankee stadium. The session dispelled the report of difficulties in getting Sharkey to agree to fight Dempsey.

BATTLE FOR FLAG LEAD IN CHICAGO

Cubs Need Two Wins to Jump in Front of Bucs.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Pittsburgh Pirates take on the Cubs in games at Chicago this afternoon that may have an important bearing on the pennant race.

The Cubs smothered the Bucs yesterday, 14 to 7, Charley Root winning his twelfth game and Earl Webb scouting his eleventh homer. Paul Waner hit safely in his 22nd consecutive game.

Jack Scott, the big iron man from Philadelphia, tried to beat the Reds twice and almost got away with it. Jack won the first game, 3 to 1, on Thompson's triple, but tired in the nightcap and Rixey blanked the Phils, 8 to 0.

Other good bits of pitching were contributed by Benton and Clarkson of the Giants and Joe Shaute of Cleveland. The New York pair held the Cardinals to four hits and won, 4 to 3, on homers by Hornsby and Reese.

KNOW NOTHING OF TEX'S PLANS

CHICAGO, June 20. — Members of the "who's who" in Illinois boxing circles have no official information regarding Tex Rickard's proposed plan to stage a heavyweight championship match in Chicago, a canvass of promoters and members of the boxing commission revealed today.

The men who rule the game here stated their first and only information concerning a world title bout here was contained in press dispatches from New York. The reports, however, have caused great excitement among local fight fans.

Promoter James Mullen, often referred to as the "Tex Rickard of the middle west," refused to comment on the poaching threat of his eastern rival.

TILDEN IS WINNER AT WIMBLEDON

Inaugurates Net Matches by Defeating Briton.

By F. A. Wray.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 20.—"Big Bill" Tilden inaugurated the Wimbledon tennis championship today with an easy victory over G. A. Pratt of England.

Playing before a huge and fashionable crowd in the centre court, Tilden ran out a victory at 6-2, 6-1, 6-0, in a most casual manner.

Pratt had just barely managed to qualify for the tournament, Tilden playing in a light hearted manner, occasionally drove into the net to make the score more interesting.

During the last set Tilden speeded up and amidst applause from the gallery displayed unusually fine tennis, scoring service ace after service ace.

"I am feeling fine and fit, and am striving and hoping to win," Tilden told the International News Service after the match.

Asked about the condition of his knee, Tilden replied, "that's a matter I don't talk about. You saw me play."

For the first time since the World war, a German player appeared at Wimbledon today. O. Froitzheim, the pre-war international player, met J. G. Collins, the Scottish champion. The German won the first two sets by superb volleying and relentless placements, 7-5, 6-3.

Collins rallied and won the third set, 6-3.

DUST IS BLAMED FOR RACE DEATHS

BRAZIL, Ind., June 20.—Heavy dust at the Sunflower race track was blamed for the tragedy in the first five-mile elimination automobile race in which the car of Gerald Bush, 31, of Iowa City, Iowa, crashed into two other cars and then plunged into the spectators.

Bush was killed and three spectators were injured.

COLLEGE CREWS TRAIN ON HUDSON

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 20.—For the first time since training began for the intercollegiate regatta here on June 29, all 19 crews which will participate were on the Hudson today for workouts. The new arrivals are the Wisconsin freshmen and the Washington and navy crews.

Shaute yielded only four hits against the White Sox, winning, 3 to 2, over Ted Lyons, who had pitched nine straight victories. The Sox now trail the Yankees by seven games and the Yanks already are figuring on ways and means of spending their world series boodle.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. COOLIDGE ENJOY BEAUTIES OF BLACK HILLS

President and Mrs. Coolidge have expressed great delight over their choice of the Black Hills of South Dakota as a summer retreat. Here are photos just received: (1) State Game Lodge, as it looks now as the summer home of the Chief Executive of the nation; (2) Squaw Creek, where the President has found fishing good; (3) Governor W. J. Bulow of South Dakota, a Democrat, photographed as he greeted (very happily) a Republican President; (4) first snapshot of President Coolidge in South Dakota; (5) the main street of Custer, ten miles from the "summer White House" and town in which President and Mrs. Coolidge attend church; (6) cottage occupied by Everett Sanders, the President's secretary, the small figures in the foreground being Colonel E. P. Starling of the White House staff, who selected the site; U. S. Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota; and Paul E. Bellamy, president of the Black Hills Transportation Co.; (7) one of the numerous tunnels on the Needles Highway, near the summer home.

CROSS EYE Specialists

The doctors at this Institute have perfected a method of straightening cross eyes. After 25 years of research they have been able to prove that glasses do not cure cross eyes, for when the glasses are taken off the eyes turn back. Cross eyes in children frequently means blindness in adults.

Instant attention must therefore be given to this ailment. If you are cross eyed—if you have a child with cross eyes, send for FREE BOOK on Straightening Cross Eyes.

CROSS EYE Specialists

The doctors at this Institute have perfected a method of straightening cross eyes. After 25 years of research they have been able to prove that glasses do not cure cross eyes, for when the glasses are taken off the eyes turn back. Cross eyes in children frequently means blindness in adults.

Instant attention must therefore be given to this ailment. If you are cross eyed—if you have a child with cross eyes, send for FREE BOOK on Straightening Cross Eyes.

A Two-Day Speech.
Genuine Protection.
Blow to Britain.
Flying Is In.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

MUSTAPHA KEMAL PASHA writes a speech that requires two days steady reading in the Turkish congress. Several secretaries help

"Red Jacket," who taught the late Albert Brisbane, as a boy, to make bows and arrows in Batavia, N. Y., was called "So-Go-Ye-Wat-Ha," which means "He keeps them awake." He talked 24 hours without stopping to prevent a massacre of whites by Indians, and succeeded, which was fortunate for the people of Batavia and other little frontier settlements of that day.

"SA-GO-YE-WAT-HA," died in 1860, proud of a silver medal that George Washington gave him. But he never took to missionaries, saying to them, "If you killed your god, do not come here, to blame us Indians. We did not kill him. If he had come to us we would have treated him kndly."

THE French know the wisdom of protecting industry, and proved it long ago. After French noblemen had ruined themselves in silks and velvets of the "Field of the cloth of gold," when Francis The First and Henry the Eighth had their wrestling match, the French government said, "No silks, velvets or looking glasses shall be imported. If French noblemen want such things they must buy them from French workers." Because of that decison France today rules the world in silks, velvets and some other things.

NOW France says, to the horror of Great Britan, "No coal shall be imported into France except by special permit. We shall use our own coal, including that recently taken from Germany."

Great Britain has been selling 10,000,000 tons of coal every year to France, and the French embargo threatens a new crisis for harassed Britan.

EXPENSES of our national government have been reduced to three thousand million dollars a year, which means a cut of $295,000,000 in four years. The government can cut as much more from its expenditures, in four minutes, by stopping foolish

Mill Worker Turns Over Life Savings To Two Strangers

Draws Money From Bank to Prove he is "Industrious" and Hands it to Two Friends."

PROMISED SHARE IN $3100 "FIND"

Crooks Charter Taxicab and go to Steubenville as Victim Waits in Lobby of Postoffice.

Van Manning, 45, colored mill worker, of 546 Penn avenue, Midland, was fleeced out of $700, representing his life savings in a confidence game on Saturday by two strangers, both negroes, according to a report made to Chief of Police McDermott.

Met On Street Car.

The police traced the "con" men to Steubenville, where they are believed to have boarded a train to Pittsburgh.

Manning told police that he boarded a street car in Midland, bound for East Liverpool, Saturday morning, two "well dressed" colored men getting on the car at the same stop. Manning said the strangers, who sat close to him, represented they were "wealthy real estate operators" and said they were in their way to East Liverpool to buy a large barber shop.

After leaving the car at the Broadway terminal, Manning says one of the men picked up a pocketbook from the street. The finder opened it and Manning declares that he saw a $100 bill in the purse. He accompanied the two men to the post office where a second examination of the purse was made. While the Midland man did not get a glimpse of the purse this time, he claims that the men said it contained $3,100—three $1,000 bills and one $100 bill. One of them remarked that they had "a bucket of milk and we had better get out before we spill it."

Change $100 Bill.

One of the two objected, claiming that Manning had been with them when the find was made and that he was entitled to one-third of the money. His partner said that he was willing to split the contents of the purse but that Manning must furnish proof that he was industrious and capable of taking care of the money if it were turned over to him. Manning said that he had $700 in a savings account at the First National bank here and at their request he went to the bank where he obtained his balance.

Returning to the postoffice he counted out his money, five $100 bills and four $50 notes to his newly-found friends. One of the men took the money and told him to wait at the postoffice until they could change the money and that he would receive $1,700 in return—his own money and $1,000 of the contents of the purse.

Manning waited at the postoffice from 11 a. m. until 2 p. m. for the return of the men and then notified Chief of Police McDermott. The police, upon investigation, learned that the two men had engaged a local taxicab which took them to Steubenville. The driver claims that the men left the cab within two squares of the Panhandle railroad station in Steubenville. One of Manning's $100 bills had been changed on the way to Steubenville from which they had paid for the taxicab. No trace of the men could be found in Steubenville.

GEORGE CLARK BARRED FROM FEDERAL COURT

Judge Westenhaver Rules Against Canton Attorney.

MISCONDUCT HELD

Misappropriation of Assets in Receiver Case Charged.

CLEVELAND, June 20.—George H. Clark, Canton attorney, and former state supreme court justice, today was disbarred forever from the practice of law in the United States district court of the northern district of Ohio, following a hearing on charges of misappropriationg assets of the defunct American Cycle company, of Canton, while acting as attorney for Don Krug, receiver of the concern.

Federal Judge D. C. Westenhaver, before whom the hearing was held, in rendering his disbarment decision, said:

"In view of the evidence I must render a decision that the defendant is guilty of malpractice and professional misconduct, involving moral turpitude.

"I therefore decree that George H. Clark be forever barred from the practice of law in the United States district court of the northern district of Ohio and that his name be stricken from the rolls of attorneys entitled to practice therein." Judge Westenhaver's voice shook, but did not break as he read his decision.

Asked if he had anything to say before the decision was made, Clark replied that he did not. He showed little emotion, following the reading, and immediately left the courtroom.

AMERICA ASKS 5-5-3 RATIO ON ALL CLASSES OF WAR CRAFT

Means British and U. S. Navies Will be of Same size.

GENEVA PROPOSAL

Cruisers, Destroyers and Submarines to Come Under New Pact.

GENEVA, June 20.—Concrete proposal designed to eliminate the last vestige of naval competition between the great powers was laid before the Geneva arms conference today by the American delegation.

The American program, boiled down, was that the 5—5—3 ratio of capital ship strength, established at the Washington conference six years ago, be extended to cover all remaining classes of fighting craft.

It agreed to by the participating powers, Great Britain and Japan, the British and American navies eventually will be of the same size, ship for ship, class for class, and that of Japan will be of the same ratio 3 to 5.

Suggest Abolition of Submarines.

For practical purposes the American proposal established four classes of ships to be dealt with in the proposed new treaty, which is to be supplemental to the Washington treaty.

These classes were: The cruiser class, the destroyer class, the submarine class and an exempt class that includes all other types such as supply ships, tenders, mine-sweepers, etc.

In the cruiser class the American proposal was that the United States and Great Britain limit their tonnage to not exceeding 300,000 tons as against 180,000 for Japan.

In the destroyer class the tonnage

Tice was held for the grand jury by Mayor Fogo, Wellsville, last week upon a charge signed by Snyder. The state was represented at today's hearing by Solicitor Hoover and Attorney W. S. Stevenson, while Attorney S. W. Crawford defended Snyder.

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Commander Richard E. Byrd hopes that weather conditions will permit him to hop off for Paris tomorrow evening, or, at the latest, Wednesday.

He wants to take off at sunset, instead of early in the morning as Lindbergh and Chamberlin did. Early morning had been considered the best time for the hop-off because of atmospheric conditions, but Byrd pointed out that by leaving about 6 in the evening he could land in Europe in daytime.

Byrd said today that he will seek an air lane across the Atlantic which will afford the maximum speed with the greatest margin of safety. Some day this course may be the every-day air route to Europe.

Huge Plane Ready.

The huge three-motored plane "America" has been gone over thoroughly and is ready for the trip. Members of Byrd's crew, Bert Acosta, the pilot and Lieut. G. O. Noville, the engineers, are awaiting impatiently for the time for the take off. The name of the fourth person who may make the trip has not been revealed although it is reported he will be Bernt Balchen, formerly of the Norwegian navy.

Unfavorable weather still prevails over the Atlantic. There are headwinds from New York to Newfoundland and from Newfoundland to mid-ocean. From that point to Ireland storms are raging.

Everything on this trip will be done on a scientific basis. Byrd will explore the various air lanes over the Atlantic with the idea of determining which one is the best. He will have all the instruments which Lindbergh had, including the earth inductor compass, and several more, the most important of which is the bubble sextant, by means of which the exact position of the plane may be determined and plotted on the chart.

Seeks Safest Air Course.

"I hope to learn to some extent the quickest and safest air course of Europe," said Byrd. "They are not necessarily the same.

"The quickest course may be the southern end of a low area, or area of storm, where a strong westerly wind would blow the plane along at high speed. Such a course, however, might be dangerous.

"It would be of great scientific value to learn more about the weather conditions that prevail above the surface of the ocean on the edges of the low pressure areas."

WELLSVILLE WATER SYSTEM COST PARLEY OPENS

CITY CHIEFS AND BUILDER IN CONFERENCE

Amicable Settlement of Financial Differences Loom.

$18,000 SOUGHT

Municipality Claims Larger Sum in Damages.

Conference between A. W. Hineman, Pennsylvania contractor who constructed the major portion of Wellsville's municipal gravity water system in Little Yellow creek and city officials was launched today in the office of City Auditor Fred Eckfeld, with an amicable settlement of financial differences as the objective.

In addition to Hineman, Engineer McGill, Solicitor S. C. Luccock, Service Director George Ashley, Mayor W. L. Fogo and Auditor Eckfeld attended the opening session.

Only a short meeting was held, beginning at 9:30 o'clock, when Hineman and the city officials discussed principal phases of the proposed settlement.

The conference adjourned until 1 o'clock this afternoon when Hineman and Engineer McGill were scheduled to go over the contract and other paper in connection with the sewer construction.

The conference was brought about by Hineman's recent offer to settle for $18,000 instead of taking the controversy into courts.

The city claims an amount from the contractor, in liquidated damages, more than equalling that sum.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 20.—Speculative interest was centered mainly in the "merger" railroad stocks at the beginning of trading on the stock market today. Reports that official approval would be given today of the so-called southwest unification plan stimulated active trading in Kansas City Southern, Katy and St. Louis Southwestern common at slight advances over Saturday's close. Nickel Plate also rose about 4 points in a firm market.

Some apprehension was felt over the money situation, in view of the reported deficit in the reserves of the New York city banks, as disclosed in Saturday's clearing house statement. There was a disposition to reduce commitments in advance of the weekly reserve board report on brokers' loans, to be issued at Washington after the close of the market today. A further expansion in brokers' loans might lead to another period of hurried liquidation, in the Wall Street view, call money renewed today at 4 per cent.

The industrial stocks were freely offered in the second hour, and the general tone of the market dull and reactionary. A few of the specialties with pool support were pushed upward a point or more in a meaningless whirl while prime industrials like steel common and General Motors moved downward.

Another break in crude rubber sent prices down from 40 to 100 points, or a cent a pound. Sugar was advanced 10 points in the second hour, and most of the grains sold fractionally higher in the principal American and Canadian markets.

DIPLOMACY PLAYED ROLE IN LINDY'S HOMECOMIING, CAPITAL HEARS

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Lindy wasn't hustled home in order to let President Coolidge welcome him without postponing his own departure for the Black Hills.

MYRON T HERRICK

That's been intimated— that Lindy's good time in Europe was cut short to prevent delaying the presidential vacation.

It's true Charlie was dragged hither before he was ready to come. It's true there were reasons why his return from abroad was much desired by the Washington government. It's true the young flyer's personal wishes were somewhat sub-ordinated to what was deemed this country's best interests.

But as for the president's vacation—well, if that was thought of at all, at least it wasn't the principal consideration.

TRUSTWORTHY inside dope credits Ambassador Herrick, in Paris, with evolving the theory that Lindy had been overseas about long enough.

His line of reasoning was substantially thus:

Lindy's visit here (in France) has been a positively incredible success. It's transformed relations between the old and the new worlds, overnight, from nothing-to-brag-about to the pleasantest-anybody-could-ask. The thing can't be improved on, because it's perfection now. It would be tempting providence to keej it up. Something might go wrong.

IN just what words the ambassador clothed this thought, for the state department's benefit, we don't know but it's certain that he put the idea across.

The state department also denies that it sent word to Lindy to hurry home.

Sure not.

It wouldn't have been diplomatic. The state department couldn't have made him do it, anyway. Suppose it had tried to, and Lindy had balked A nice situation! He couldn't very well have been extradited.

However, as Charlie says, he "found a warship waiting" for him.

STORY OF SEA AT AMERICAN

"Captain Salvation" Thrilling Adventure Drama.

One of the fastest, most thrilling adventure dramas ever screened of the men who go down to the sea in ships, "Captain Salvation," opened at the American theatre today. It is a Cosmopolitan production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, featuring Lars Hanson, the Swedish actor, who created such vivid impressions in "The Scarlet Letter" and "Flesh and the Devil." Mr. Hanson is a descendant of the old Norse Vikings and looks on his role in "Captain Salvation" as one of his greatest characterizations. He is surrounded by an exceptional cast including Pauline Starke, Ernest Torrence, Marceline Day and Sam de Grasse.

"Captain Salvation" is packed with spectacular and highly exciting scenes. It tells the red-blooded romance of courageous men and daring women, battling the fury of the sea, the intolerance of petty conventions and the brutal captain of a hell-ship. A saga of adventure it fairly breathes the salt tang of the deep. It grips, it thrills, it amazes, and its love story tugs at the heartstrings. This is a new type of picture, standing out vividly against the usual screen entertainment. It was directed by John S. Robertson.

Business "Satisfactory"

Here is a summary of the latest business report from the economic experts of the National City Bank of New York, biggest financial institution in the country:

"The general business situation in May has continued satisfactory. Manufacturing is going on in large volume, distribution is apparently keeping pace, employment conditions are good, and money is abundant for business purposes."

There are troubles, of course. There are the coal strike, the Mississippi flood, overproduction of oil, bad crop weather in the West, and a general downward tendency in non-agricultural commodities—which doesn't worry consumers so much as it does business men. On the other hand, the "supporting influences" are strong. Steel is operating at a high level, building continues in large volume, the automobile industry is doing better than was expected, improvements are recorded in many important lines, foreign trade is healthy.

Thus business in the aggregate is "averaging fully up to or above normal," as shown by such dependable standards as electric power consumption, railway traffic and bank payments.

"Quitely clearly, although maladjustments exist, they have not been basic enough to seriously disturb the general condition of stability which has characterized the last few years."

In other words, prosperity continues, with the American people enjoying the highest per capita income ever received by the people of any country, and with business resting on foundations which the experts believe "will sustain the general average at good levels during the coming months."

There are some bad spots, and competition is keener than it used to be, and the inefficient fellow has more trouble than he had during the hectic war boom. But don't believe anybody who tells you business isn't good and this nation isn't sitting, economically, on top of the world.

Professorial Sportsmanship

When Lindbergh was a student in the University of Wisconsin the English department had a rather discouraging time with him about such matters as grammar, spelling and punctuation. The professor in charge of English composition kept insisting or more careful work.

Finally young Lindbergh got tired of hearing about it, and wrote a theme that was a direct lampoon on the professor. He told how a clergyman, dying and arriving at the gate of heaven, was held up while St. Peter examined his passport, and then was "bawled out" and threatened with banishment because there were two misplaced commas in it.

And what did the professor do about that theme? He recognized its real merit, and gave Lindbergh an "A" on it—the highest mark possible. Showing that there are sportsmen in professorial chairs as well as airplanes.

A Magician's Undoing

The truth has come out about the death of Houdini, the magician, a few months ago.

A week before his death, Houdini had challenged a student of McGill University, in Montreal, to strike him a hard blow. He did this to prove his fine physical condition. He was sure that his strength would enable him to withstand any blow an athletic young man was capable of striking.

Therein the usually canny magician made a sad mistake. The student, without any malevolence whatever, but eager to oblige, hauled off and landed a heavy blow which happened to strike Houdini in the region of the appendix, causing an internal rupture, resulting fatally.

It is a grown-up version of the familiar bravado of children, daring others to hurt them. Better play safe, at whatever age, where bodily safety is concerned.

Literary Quarantine

The Winnipeg Tribune is urging the Canadian government to take action barring from the Dominion "literary filth" of American origin.

"There is no need to establish a literary censorship," observes the Tribune. "The magazines in question do not rank as literature at all. They are cheap, degraded, filthy. They are magazine garbage. On the same principle that we ban importations of diseased cattle, and even diseased plants and bulbs and roots, they should be permanently excluded from Canada."

The problem may not be quite so simple as that, but the principle seems sound. There is ample justification for a quarantine against a lot of printed matter produced in New York and Chicago, and dumped onto decent communities near and far. Our own states and cities might defend themselves from pollution on that principle. Here is something worse than the corn borer or the foot and mouth disease.

America, says Lindbergh, is successful in carrying ail mail, and Europe is successful in carrying passengers. It's time to combine the two.

One appealing thing about aviation is that the air isn't full of superfluous traffic signs and warnings telling you how to drive.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

My Favorite Stories
By IRVIN S. COBB

WHEN MOTHER AND CHILD GO FORTH

There are coincidences in stories as there are coincidences in life generally. It's rather strange that twice in one day I should hear a yarn dealing with a mother and a child and a trolley car. Yet that very thing happened not so long ago.

Here is one of the yarns:

The lady and the little boy had just boarded the car. The conductor eyed the child closely as he advanced to collect the fares. He had been warned to be on the lookout for unscrupulous parents who lied regarding the proper ages of their offspring in order to avoid paying fares for them.

"How old is your son, madam?" he asked as she handed him her nickel.

"Three and a half," she replied, truthfully.

"Very well" he said, his suspicions allayed.

The child raised his head.

"And mother's thirty-three," he stated in a laud clear voice.

Here is the other yarn:

On a street car sat a young matron. She was drowsy; presently her head began to nod and she slept lightly. At her side was a lad of ten, beautifully dressed. Long golden ringlets covered his head and shoulder. Almost any woman would say that a child so blessed should be happy. But this child did not appear to be happy.

Perhaps that was because two rough-looking crop-headed youngsters of approximately his own age were snickering at him from across the aisle. Presently, emboldened by the fact that the lady with him slumbered, they began dealing in audible taunts.

"Girl baby!" said the second tormentor. "That's all—just an old girl baby!"

"Say, kid," demanded the first, "who curled your hair for you?"

The object of their derision cast a cautious glance upward to make sure the sleeper had not roused. Then, in a voice quivering with suppressed indignation he answered:

"My mother—dam' her!"

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 20.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Before daylight to a tram station and going down a darkened hall a nightwatch inquired sharply "Who are you?" and I replied "Young Jack Harkaway" which I thought amusing enough for that time of day.

Sat at a depot lunch counter and had an oyster stew and the serving man told me he recognized me from published pictures but punctured any growing conceit with: "I don't care for your stuff, but my wife reads it. She'll read anything."

Home and slept until dusk and V. V. McNitt and C. B. Driscoll came to dinner and we talked of this, that and the other and especially of days when we labored on various Ohio gazettes. Later at my labours and to bed.

Al Davis, a former professional dancer, is considered one of the crack horsemen in the country. He rides jumpers and is as well known on the French turf as he is in America. Trained to negotiate obstacles, I saw him almost come a cropper on a rug in a hotel foyer the other evening. There is a special "foolish look" for those who trip in public. It is generally accompanied by a blush and embarrassed half laugh. I do not believe anyone is able to rise above it.

There are some who will make a trip in public an excuse to tie a shoe lace that does not need tying and others who limp away as though badly injured.

It has been my lot to trip usually at the precise second when having half turned about to gaze at some beautiful woman, she suddenly, for no reason at all, glanced in my direction.

Window washers who hang so dizzily from lofty perches usually grow careless. With their straps attached, their security is pretty well secured but they often neglect to use them. As a result recent orders in big skyscrapers subject the slightest carelessness to dismissal.

Steel workers who walk so perilously across beams say their sureness lies totally in the mental outlook. If they think of danger, they immediately sit down and squirm their way across. They have trained themselves to keep thoughts off the hazards.

When a steel worker stumbles and falls, the set back to building operations is heavy. There is an unwritten code that in case of such catastrophe all workers on the job quit for the day.

In younger days I had ambitions to be a devil of the high wire. I began modestly in the back yard on a clothes line wire, a foot from the ground and eventually reached a height of three feet. It was at this period of progress when able to climb through a barrel hoop that I glanced up and saw my school teacher gazing at me from the window of a nearby house. I immediately fell straddle of the wire, so in my own small way I know something of the concentration necessary for steel workers.

A playmate of mine in those days, incidentally, became a balloonist who sailed to the clouds at country fairs. Later he conceived the idea of riding a motorcycle periliously around a saucer like bowl in vaudeville. He was the boy, too, who used to be chased all around vacant lots with the threat to throw a caterpillar on him.

Speaking of balloonists, a New York circus agency says they are almost passe. With farmers seeing mail airplanes over their heads daily, they have no interest whatever in a balloon ascension. And along came Lindy! That must have been a big blow to the balloon business.

HASKINS' LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Metric System Controversy.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Americans have a special gift for controversy. Vast numbers have some cause very dear to them and, particularly in recent years, have organized some society as a means of expression and, perhaps, to some extent as a safety valve. These organizations have for their purpose making other people agree with them. Political parties are one phase of the phenomeon, but probably the most extreme case is that of foreign missions which seek to lead persons of foreign nations to agree with various denominations of Christianity at home.

And it seems that having a cause and a vehicle for furthering it engenders a desire to despise opponents.

One of the strangest controversies which has ever developed is now raging and has for some years. It grows in intensity each year. The dispute is between advocates of the metric system of weights and measures and those opposed to that system. It seems strange that such passionate recriminations could be used in the discussion of so dull a subject, but the crusaders on both sides have their hearts and souls bound up in their causes and devote a tremendous amount of effort each to make the other side agree with them.

Each side eagerly contradicts the statements of the other.

While the gentlemen involved are of a high type of education and culture they seldom use the term "lie," but it is not difficult to determine that this good old English word is precisely what is meant.

The All-American Standards Council is probably the leading organization favoring adoption of the metric system but The Metric association is powerful too. They cooperate. They held the Second Pan American Standardization Conference in Washington last month.

Their bitterest opponent is the American Institute of Weights and Measures which looks with horror on any scheme to trip up the pound, temper with the ton, pick on the peck, or trifle with the yard.

The most amazingly opposite statements are made by both sides. It doesn't seem possible that both can be right. These people, who are very few in numbers relatively, would have Congress compel Americans to use the metric system in all their dealings. On the theory that the people do not know what is good for them, the pro-metric organizations would force system on them.

Interesting Counter Charges.

One of the most interesting statements made by the technical adviser of the American Institute of Weights and Measures in defense of the old English units is that the fact that English speaking nations are free nations where the will of the people is controlling whereas the metricists find their system in use only in autocratic countries where dictators or autocrats force the people to use the system.

One of the most ingenious statements of the anti-metricists is that all the pro-metric agitaton is no more than German propaganda. This propaganda started about 35 years ago when Germany was feeling British competition in world trade and Germany had started out on the campaign of world domination which led up to the Great War. The idea was that to introduce the metric system in England would so confuse trade that Germany could obtain England's markets before the latter could become used to dealing in the new units. The same tactics were used against the United States. It is stated that Germany hoped to invade England and make peace at Westminster. One of the articles of peace was to be insistence on immediate adoption of the metric system.

Long documents are put out by the opposing organizations to prove what they claim and equally long ones to disprove what the other side claims.

The Metric Association claims that 1,200,000,000 of the world's people are using the metric system. The American Institute of Weights and Measures allows the metric system is used by 358,000,000 while 514,000,000 people have local weights and measures which are a mixture of metric, English, and some other standards.

Samuel S. Dale has spent fifty years n fighting the metric system. He now is connected with the American Institute and regards the metric system as a great dragon menacing the world. He has made intensive researches and probably knows more about weights and measures than any one in the world. He firmly believes the German propaganda story and knows of other heinous crimes which have been committed by the metricists.

Where Units Came From.

There is very good evidenec that the English units came from ancient Egypt. What approximates our modern yard was a measure used in marking the stages of the annual inundation of the Nile. This was divided into cubits, two-thirds of an Egyptian cubit approximating the modern foot. The Greek stadium, reputed to be the distance Hercules could run without taking a breath was 600 Greek feet which measures 606 English feet, a trifling variation in over 2,000 years. The Romans adopted the Greek foot as a measure. These measures were taken into Britain as a matter of course and there introduced. The Roman occupation being nearly 500 years in duration it is natural that the Britons become sufficiently accustomed to these measures that they retained them after the Roman evacuation.

During the middle ages the greatest confusion existed as it was the custom of the great overlords to fix standards for use in their domains. Tributes were paid most of the feudatories in grain or other products and of given a number of bushels of grain was not all that the lord of the manor felt he could grind out of the peasantry, then he altered the quantity by making a bushel, for instance, a much larger unit. Kngs fixed the gold content of their coins to suit their needs.

The metric system brought some regularity to Europe, but it was by no means taken up instanter as a sort of gift of God as some of its ardent supporters would have one suppose. Napoleon, for instance, was strongly opposed to the metric system. He pointed out that 12 was a better unit than 10 because 10 had but two divisors, 2 and 5; whereas 12 had 4 divisors, 2, 3, 4, and 6. John Qunicy Adams was an emphatic anti-metricist. "Decimal arithmetic," he said, "is a contrivance of man for computin number and not a property of time, space, or matter. Nature has no partiality for the number 10 and the attempt to shackle her freedom with it will forever be abortive."

The people in favor of the system declare that a child of ten can learn the system in ten minutes. Mr. Dale says he can not; not even a high school graduate could. And so it goes. Perhaps both sides are right. They are sure they are, in any event.

Good Auto Repair Parts Available at Auto Wrecking Co.

Testifying to the fact that automobiles—any kind—occasionally will get balky and quit working, or wear out, or get run down at the heels, the East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Company, in Dresden avenue, has built up quite a business in providing district motorists with emergency supplies at reasonable rates.

The East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Company deals in good used parts for all makes of automobiles, such as tires, batteries, generators, tops, tools, plugs and practically anything that might be needed in the automotive line.

In addition they buy and sell used cars of any brand. If you've a car you'd like to sell quickly they can quote you a price on their own hook or direct their efforts toward finding a buyer.

All cars are used cars, and, logically enough, any of the component parts of a car must fall under the same classification. The East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Company endeavors to provide the customer with the best it can in used parts, and, of course, at a figure much below what the same thing would cost new.

This company adds to the attractiveness of its service by remaining open in the evenings.

Hanlon's Grinding Shop Can Put Old Motors in Good Trim

Your automobile, being a more or less intricate and expensive piece of machinery, certainly should be worth taking care of. All auto owners take care of their cars for a few months or so after they come out of the show room window—sleek and shiny in their gleaming new paint, and smooth running throughout.

But a majority of them, for some reason or other, gradually forget about it and after a while little troubles begin to develop here and there, which, if not attended to promptly, lead to big ones.

Eliminating troubles has built quite a business for the Hanlon Grinding ship, in Summit Lane.

The motor of your car, naturally, is the most important part of the whole assembly, and it is to motor repairs such as pistons, pins, rings, fly wheel starter gears that Hanlon devotes most of his attention.

Most of these parts last a decent length of time but when symptoms of wear and tear begin to manifest themselves, it is time to let Hanlon look them over.

A broken starter gear may stall you in the middle of traffic somewhere, or at the worst, on a railway crossing. Not pleasant to think about but much worse in actuality.

A little foresight, when you car is getting along toward middle age, may prove of benefit.

Ohio Lunch's Chef Served Greek Army Heads in Big War

Long years of service in actual cooking and in a supervisory capacity, three years of which were spent as chef for high officers over three Greek army divisions during the World war, have qualified Ellis Markanton, proprietor of the Ohio Lunch, Washington street, as a leader in his especial line.

While serving in the Greek army Markanton prepared food for the discriminating appetites of the principal officers of three army divisions, including Generals Pangelos and Neider, and worked at various times under the personal instruction of leading army physicians.

He has devoted his efforts to the restaurant business since his honorable discharge from army service and has achieved an unusual degree of success because of his adherence to honest principles.

The customer, first of all must be pleased at the Ohio Lunch; and he must be served so satisfactorily that he will return. Consequently, it is not the initial sale that has built the Ohio business, but the "repeat" orders. The best of foodstuffs are purchased, even if they cost a little more in some cases, and they are cooked and prepared in such a manner that the customer's health and well being are always considered first of all.

High health standards are maintained at all times. Service is prompt, eliminating waiting. Business men and others pressed for time, have found the Ohio an ideal place to lunch.

Service, Courtesy, Quality, Fair Price At F. P. Faulk Sons

This is the quartet of business getters offered by the F. P. Faulk & Sons company—"where you dollar goes the farthest"—that will be hard to equal, let alone excel.

Service—courtesy—fair prices and quality—it is written not only on the printed page but backed up in actual practice at the Faulk Company, distributors of garden and field seeds, lime, fertilizer, cement, poultry supplies, feed and other standard articles in that particular line.

You will find it to your advantage to look over the Faulk line first before sending your dollar on its ways.

It will pay you well, doubtlessly, to get their prices on all kinds of feed, builders' supplies and tested garden and field seeds.

Faulk service is available in East Liverpool at Smith street and Green Lane, and in Wellsville in Lisbon street.

Naylor and Travis Auto Repairing is Always Dependable

Acquaintance with the individual owners or proprietors who stand back of a company or firm name often provides the customer with the greatest incentive to purchase from them or to have his wants attended to by them, and it is seldom, if ever, that this line of reasoning fails to work out to the mutual advantage of both.

Naylor and Travis, expert automobile mechanics, have established a good business at their shop in Summit lane, aided to a great extent, undoubtedly, by the fact that themselves and their ability have been sufficiently known to warrant first class results.

When something goes wrong with the car the average motorist must depend upon the mechanic at the shop to straighten things up. Naylor and Travis have proven their ability on practically any make of car and have proven themselves capable of honest eforts in every instance.

While qualified to handle general automobile repairing, this firm is especially trained in repair and other operations on the Buick.

Earl McDole's New Wall Paper Designs Cover Wide Range

Large flowered designs, highly tinted shades, or the smaller patterns and more subdued varieties—whatever particular one is needed surely can be found among the lot.

Supplementing their wall paper trade is a fine service in paints and paiting, featuring the Pratt and Lambert line, long a standard quality in decorating operations.

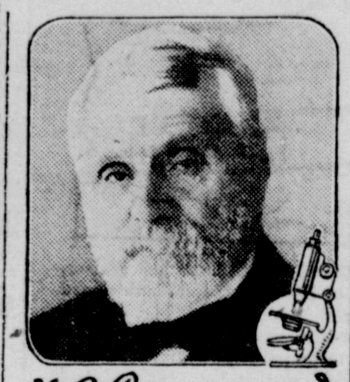
Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in hs practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, billiousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispostions that result from nonstipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug-stores have the generous bottles.



We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

COLLEGE HOUSE GUTTED BY FIRE

Fire destroyed the Sigma Nu Fraternity house at Bethany college early Sunday morning. The origin of the blaze is undetermined. The loss is estimated at about $8,000.

The fire was discovered at 1:30 o'clock by John Paul Pack, a student of Bethany college, who had not left the college town for the vacation months. Mr. Pack and four other students formed a brigade but were unsuccessful in combatting the flames.

An effort to remove the furniture from the building before it was consumed by fire failed when the roof caved in forty minutes after the blaze was discovered.

During the school term about twenty-five students room at this fraternity house. All but four had left Bethany to spend the summer months at their homes.

The building was a three story brick structure. The first and second floors were used for rooming purposes by students while the third floor was used entirely for storage purposes.

After fighting the flames for almost an hour the students aided by residents of the town realized the battle was futile. They then turned their efforts to remove some furniture. The students attempted to move the piano from the building and had almost reached the door when the roof caved in forcing them to leave the building.

COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH PLANS BUSINESS FUTURE

PLANS AERIAL TOUR IN HIS FAMOUS PLANE

Atlantic Ace Will Link Future to Commercial Aviation.

ST. LOUIS HUB

Hero of Skies May Visit 50 Different Cities.

By William K. Hutchinson.

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Turning aside from public functions and popular acclaim, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today began planning his business future and an aerial tour of the country in the interest of aviation.

While offers, involving millions of dollars and a variety of business opportunities have been showered upon America's air idol, it was definitely learned that he intends to link his future to commercial aviation. His closest associates revealed that Lindy now plans to center his business activities on the development of trans-Atlantic commercial air lines, with St. Louis as a hub. He will make his headquarters in St. Louis too, the city which he frequently has described as his "home."

The first stops on the air king's scheduled tour of the country will be announced in a few days. He will accept as many as he humanly can of the 50 invitations given him to visit different cities, it was said. His tentative route will be arranged, too, so as to permit him to fly over the maximum number of cities and towns in order that the greatest possible number of people will be able to see his plane in flight if they cannot get a glimpse of the hero in person.

Deliberations Secret.

Lindy was reported anxious to visit all sections of the country. The invitations already extended him, if accepted, would carry him from Detroit on the Canadian border to New Orleans on the gulf coast, from San Francisco on the Pacific to Boston on the Atlantic. If the youth has his way, he undoubtedly will visit them all.

The tour, however, will be arranged on the advice of Lindy's financial backers. He attended one conference last night at the palatial suburban home of Harry Hall Knight, millionaire St. Lousian. Besides the host, the conference included Harold M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Major William B. Robertson, head of the air mail line on which "Slim" served as a pilot, and B. F. Mahoney of San Diego. They were to meet again today.

These backers of the air hero shrouded their deliberations with secrecy. They declined to discuss his plans for the future but said an announcement would be made some time this week.

It was learned though that Lindy will leave St. Louis Wednesday or Thursday, although his destination was withheld. One report stated the air hero would fly back to Washington to confer with government experts over the technical descriptions written into the log of his trans-Atlantic flight.

Log of Flight.

Lindy will publish the log within a few weeks and his publishers were said to have urged him to complete the copy at once.

Lindy was concerned with another problem—the ultimate dispositon of his precious plane, "The Spirt of St. Louis." It was suggested to him that he turn it over as an exhibit to the national museum in Washington but Lindy would not commit himself. "I can't go into that now," was his reply.

Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, mother of the hero, who shares honors with him here, was scheduled to return to Detroit today. Her future was shrouded with mystery as friends of Lindy were understood to have urged her to give up her job as a school teacher in Detroit and come to live with him in St. Louis. Mrs. Lindbergh, however, has signed a contract to continue as a teacher next year in the Cass Technical High school at Detroit and recently said she "intended to keep her word."

As for the youth's business future, Lindy made it rather plain that he intends to remain in aviation. In speaking to 100,000 persons gathered in the open air at Forest park Sunday, he said: "St. Louis is in a position to be the center of aviation in this country. With proper cooperation we can put St. Louis as the center of aviation in this country."

His use of the pronoun "we" in this instance was not taken to include his famous plane but rather as a reference to his St. Louis backers.

Spends Active Sunday.

The air hero spent an active Sunday. In the forenoon, he visited the U. S. Veterans' hospital at Jefferson barracks, outside the city of St. Louis. In the afternoon, he flew his plane over teh city and later attended the Forest park celebration.

At night, he attended a municipal opera in the open air at Forest park, while an audience of 12,000 cheered him. Other thousands, unable to get seats, stood outside to cheer.

Lindy became a full fledged colonel during the day. He received two commissions, one as a colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve corps from Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, and another, as a colonel in the Missouri national guard, from Governor Sam A. Baker.

The official functions here ended last night but Lindy has accepted an invitation to attend a dinner of the Industrial club of St. Louis, Tuesday night. This organization raised $1,000,000 to advertise St. Louis. After that, Lindy will be free to tour the country.

U. S. Naval Proposals

limitation for Great Britain and the United States would be 250,000 as against 150,000 for Japan. In the submarine class 90,000 tons was proposed as the limit for Great Britain and the United States as against 54,000 for Japan.

In this connection, Hugh S. Gibson, chairman of the American delegation, informed his British and Japanese colleagues that the United States is willing to consider the abolition of all submarines if a world agreement to that effect can be negotiated. France and Italy, however, refused to entertain such a proposal at the Washington conference and as they are not active participants in the present conference it is assumed that the abolition of submarines cannot be accomplished here.

What Program Means.

If the American plan were adopted and if the limit of cruisers were fixed at 300,000 tons, and of destroyers at 250,000 tons, the United States would have to scrap approximately 62,000 tons of vessels of either the cruiser or the destroyer type and 80,000 additional tons in these classes upon completion of cruisers now being built. In Great Britain, if her present cruiser building program were completed, would have to scrap approximately 40,000 tons of the cruiser and destroyer class.

On the basis of a submarine limitation of 90,000 tons for the United States and Great Britain and 54,000 for Japan, the United States upon the completion of her present building program would have to scrap approximately 3,900 tons of submarines; Great Britain and Japan would be required to scrap none.

The proposed treaty provides for a gradual system of replacement of old vessels with new ones.

The American program, while it apparently makes the Unitd States sacrifice more actual tonnage than the other powers, nevertheless has considerable material advantages from the standpoint of American naval efficiency. The United States navy today is greatly overstocked with destroyers that are now tied up and rusting at their docks at San Diego and in the York river at Jamestown, Va. If the American program is accepted by Great Britain and Japan, these destroyers will be sacrificed for new and up-to-date crusier tonnage, the American navy bein now considerably deficient in light cruiser strength.

Gibson's proposals were immediately followed by Br[illegible] and Japanese suggestions.

Great Britain suggested an eleven point program centering about a reduction in the tonnage and armament of capital ships.

Japan proposed that there be no maximum limit for the tounage of individual vessels.

Frown on Britain's Proposals.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Great Britain's counter proposals to the American naval program, presented at Geneva today, met an unfavorable reception in Washington.

Public comment was, of course, withheld, but frank criticism of the British suggestion was voiced privately by naval experts and officials intimately concerned with the world naval situation.

The heart of the British program is considered to be the suggestion that the tonnage of cruisers be limited to 7,500, and that the armament be reduced from 8-inch guns to 6-inch guns.

Naval experts considered this proposal a clever move on the part of Britain's experts to gain for their country a marked advantage in cruiser strength. The "joker" in it is that Britain circles the globe with her naval bases, and long cruising radius is not vitally necessary to her because of the comparatively short distances between her bases.

PLAN TO HONOR MYRON T. HERRICK

UCLEVELAND, June 20.—Plans for a great demonstration here in honor of Myron T. Herrick, when the ambassador comes home from Paris late this month, were being pushed today. It is hoped that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will accept an invitation to be present, to greet Herrick, who acted as host to the famous flyer, following the latter's flight to France.

POISONOUS RUM KILLS THREE

NEW YORK, June 20.—A deluge of poisonous liquor struck New York city over the week-end, taking a toll of three dead and 11 critically ill.

The dead are Frederick Marlin, 58, John Reilly, 45, and Mrs. Hannah Huddy, 34.

Bathers "Conservative."

You can introduce a bath into a village, but you cannot make the villagers bathe in it, is about the conclusion drawn by Rev. Gordon Smythe, rector in the village of Stow St. Mary, England. The community of four farmers and their 100 workers raised $1,000 for a new schoolhouse, and the enterprising rector collected a sufficient amount in addition to install two modern baths. Tubs have been the only bathing places of the villagers, and they were "conservative," as the rector explained, about using the new tubs. He, however, has hopes of inducing some of the leaders to encourage the children to take a bath at the schoolhouse and thus start the fashion.

Grocers who profiteer are now penalized by the Paris police, who prohibit the offenders from displaying their wares on pavements in front of their stores.

In spite of the $3,000,000 cyclone and flood damage to its sugar-cane, Queensland expects a bumper sugar crop worth $30,000,000 this season.

VIENNA HONORS CHAMBERLIN, LEVINE WHO GET GOLD MEDALS

ATTEND LUNCHEON

Americans Will Fly to Prague on Thursday.

VIENNA, June 20.—Under an escort of mounted police and hailed by admiring throngs the two American airmen, Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, drove through the streets of Vienna in state today.

Accompanied by United States Minister Washburn the two fliers went to the governmental palace where they were received in audience by Premier Seipel, who gave them a warm greeting in the name of the Austrian government.

A change having been made in the program President Hainisch received the flyers today, after they had been received by Premier Seipel. He presented both flyers with gold medals, declaring "your achievement is for all humanity and therefore for Austria also. We greet you with this symbol of our appreciation."

Wives Rest at Hotels.

Mayor Seitz of Vienna entertains the flyers at an official dinner tonight

On Wednesday the flyers will be entertained with a tea at the American legation.

On Thursday Chamberlin and Levine will fly to Prague, where President Masaryk has postponed his vacation in order to receive them.

15,000 Austrians Cheer.

Chamberlin and Levine arrived last night in a heavy rain storm, but even the disagreeable weather failed to dampen the spirits of 15,000 excited and admiring Austrians who welcomed the Americans at Aspen field, just outside the city.

So demonstrative did the crowd become that the police lost all control. The Austrians surged around the Americans cheering and waving hats while a band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine flew in another machine.

Receives Diamond Studded Medals.

When word was received from Berlin: "They're off," a crowd of 50,000 gathered at the flying field, but all except about 15,000 departed when rain began to fall. The Americans received a continuous ovation all the way from the air deport to the Hotel Imperial. Before leaving the field both airmen were presented with diamond studded medals by the Aero club of Austria.

Chamberlin and Levine expect to visit Budapest, Warsaw, Paris and possibly Rome before they complete their "swing round the circle." It has been decided not to fly to Moscow.

Byrd Defers Hop-off

Whether Byrd will be satisfied with a hop to Paris, without going further, was a matter of conjecture today. The belief persists that he will attempt something more spectacular, although Byrd says his original plans have not been changed. It is reported that when Byrd gets to Paris, he will make another take off—perhaps to some other large city, or back to America.

"Nothing will be decided until after we get to Paris," said Byrd.

CLEVELAND, June 20.—Herman Baker, 19, local cameraman, was to arrive at Roosevelt Field, N. Y. today where he said he would attempt to join Commander R. E. Byrd, who is awaiting favorable weather before hopping off for a flight to Paris. Baker declared he knew Byrd well, and said he had taken aerial photos in California, with Byrd as his pilot. He was not discouraged by reports that Byrd's plane was probably "booked full."

"Take me along as motion picture man on your trip," he wired Byrd, just before leaving Cleveland. "I'll take enough film to supply all news reels."

President Coolidge May Get Draft of Farm Relief Bill

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 20.—President Coolidge, according to all indications, will leave the Black Hills of South Dakota this fall with a draft of a farm relief bill in his pocket, which will satisfy a great number of the farmers of the west, or at least be of such a nature as to be palatable.

Summering here in the heart of the region that fought so vigorously for the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill with its equalization fee and alleged "price-fixing features, the president already apparently has made long strides toward winning over the western agrarians.

Named Akron's Acting Postmaster.

Truman Cain Fined $50 and Costs, Goes To County Jail

Truman Cain was fined $50 and costs and committed to the county jail at Lisbon until the fine and costs are paid when he pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication today before Municipal Judge Hanley. Cain, who was arrested on Second street by Patrolman Haley, Saturday afternoon, had promised to leave town when he appeared before Judge Hanley on an intoxication charge Friday.

John O. Taylor was fined $10 and costs when found guilty upon a charge of disorderly conduct by refusing to obey orders of an officer.

Taylor was taken into charge early Sunday morning by Patrolman Curran after one of the teams belonging to the West carnival was struck by an automobile near the carnival grounds. After obtaining a description of the car, Curran came to the Diamond where he found Taylor. He took him to the carnival grounds, but the carnival man could not identify Taylor's machine.

Taylor, it is charged, became abusive and refused to obey the officers' orders. He was taken to the city jail in Curran's automobile parked near the show grounds.

Five Hurt in Crashes

The Chevrolet is said to have sideswiped the Brown car, a Studebaker sedan. The big machine left the cement roadway and crashed into a telephone pole.

Morris, his wife and his father-in-law were brought to the City hospital in another car. Brown, Miss Wood, the Morris baby, Goodwin and Sainer were unhurt. Brown hurried to Lisbon where he notified Sheriff Wright of the crash. Wright returned to the scene of the crash but the occupants of the smaller car could not be found.

The Studebaker car was wrecked while the Chevrolet machine was also badly damaged. Both cars were taken to the Crubaugh garage in Lisbon.

Touring Car Overturns.

Benson, driving a Ford sedan, and accompanied by Mays, was coming down the Canton hill near the westerly approach to the Canton bridge, Lisbon, at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon when it is claimed they were forced off the road in order to avoid a collision with an automobile driven by L. A. Nolling, Kensington, which was passing a third car going in a westerly direction.

Benson and Mays rolled over an embankment in the machine, which turned turtle.

The injured men were taken to the New Lisbon hotel, where Dr. Jackson Searles attended them.

A Star touring car, owned by Jesse Lennens, of East Liverpool, who was accompanied by two other men, overturned on the Lincoln highway near the Grange hall, west of Lisbon, Sunday afternoon after a tire on the machine blew out. The machine stopped when it struck a telephone pole. The men were returning from Hanoverton when the accident occurred. No one was hurt.

Roadster Upsets.

Ford roadster, occupied by Donald Willis and Thomas Pusey, East Liverpool, overturned on the Lisbon-Salem road, about four miles north of Lisbon, at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. They were returning from Lisbon when, it is reported, they were forced off the road by another car. Neither of the youths was hurt. The car was taken to a Lisbon garage.

Studebaker driven by H. E. Morris, Lisbon, was damaged when it was struck by a Chevrolet coupe, driven by an unidentified woman near the Hamilton drug store, Lisbon, late Saturday afternoon. The Chevrolet was traveling east on Lincoln way when it crashed into the side of the Morris car which was driven into Lincoln way from the street back of the postoffice. Running board and one fender on the Morris car and two front fenders on the Chevrolet car were damaged. No one was hurt.

Chevrolet sedan driven by Harold Bolder, Canton, crashed into the traffic light in the Lisbon square at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon overturning the signal. Police, who investigated, released Bolder after he arranged to pay $55 for damage to the light.

Worker Loses Two Fingers in Clay Plant Accident

Arthur Nightingale, 29, Irondale, suffered the amputation of two fingers on his left hand at the City hospital at 10:30 o'clock this morning as the result of an accident at the plant of the Banfield Clay company, Irondale, where he is employed. Dr. Neitz attended him.

COUPLE FACES POISON CHARGE

Charged with the murder of Clifford Cox, 12, Arthur Walser, 29, and his child-wife, Dorothea, 16, of Fairmount, Ind., both shown above, must stand trial in September at Marion, Ind. The Walsers have pleaded not guilty. The prosecution contends that Walser directed his wife, a cousin of the boy, to prepare Paris green "lemonade" and to entice the boy to drink it, so that they might collect $445 insurance carried on his life and buy clothes for their two months old baby. In the center is a view of the Walser home where Clifford took the fatal drink just after he showed his school promotion card to Mrs. Walser. Below is a photo of the insurance policy taken out for Clifford by Mrs. Walser a few weeks before his death.

VATICAN HINTS PEACE MOVE IN WAR IN CHINA

Encyclical to Consistory Praises Churchmen in Mexico.

LAUDS FAITHFUL

Refers to "Imported Subversive Doctrines" in Chinese Horrors.

ROME, June 20.—Possible attempts by the Vatican to end the civil war in China, were hinted at today by the pope in an encyclical to the consistory now in session.

The pope devoted most of the encyclical to the Chinese warfare, and to praise of the churches in Mexico for their attitude in the religious controversy there. He also made references to the French Nationalists of the Action Francaise.

After deploring the horrors of the Chinese civil war, the pope expressed the opinion that these horrors are due less to the Chinese people, whom he described as peace loving, than to "imported subversive doctrines."

Reaffirming the Vatican's love and regard for the ancient nation of China, the pope praised the missionaries and Christians for their faithful service in China, and intimated that he is now considering launching a peace appeal to end the warfare.

The espicopate of the United States also came in for papal praise in connection with the Mexican controversy.

Throughout the entire encyclical there was a plea for peace and prayers that troubled conditions now existent may soon pass away.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX.

Now each succeeding yard seemed to grow steeper till at last he was literally lifting himself up the trail, step by step, wondering how those ahead were able to maintain such rapid progress through the night; he wondered, too, if it might not be the part of wisdom to drop temporarily his role of wizard and make himself into a fighting man on the theory that perhaps this would get him nearer to the Temple, or perhaps actually within in it at a minimum of risk to his own person.

One of those ordinary incidents of military life decided him. Some marching soldier up ahead had dropped his rifle and now Larry's stumbling feet kicked against it; he picked it up and threw it across his shoulder, then paused long enough to make necessary changes in his apparel, rewinding the rezza, or muslin strips, of his turban and shortening his burnouse.

He was not afraid anyone would recognize him by looking into his face, for not his face, but his wizard's department had served to identify him in the past and now he had effectually remedied this matter. However, to further assure non-recognition, he drew down his brows until he was scowling blackly and as he walked along he held them that way until he got used to the strained feeling. At last, satisfied that he had made all the preparations possible to disguise himself, he accelerated his pace until he was almost running up what had now turned into a fairly smooth inclined surface, still leading upward. Just ahead he saw the rearmost ranks of the mokhaznis, and a few minutes later he joined them. A burly Berber eyed him dourly, his bearded lips curling.

Instantly, playing his part, Larry's brows became even more forbidding in their dark scowl, and his voice, purposely made a little raucous, growled

"If the mokhaznis thinks so let him drop behind with me, and let Allah decide which is the child."

Now a khalifa, overhearing this verbal passage, spoke up:

"Of whose men are you that you may quit your ranks at will and march with the aska?"

Larry thought swiftly; he knew no single soul in all this cavalcade; nor was he accoutered in the exact counterpart of any one branch of the fighters in this long line of march. Obviously, he must represent himself, while of the moualin el-makhala, also as of something slightly apart from them. Mentally he cursed himself for his stupidity in not having thought of his new identity a little earlier, but it was too late now for regrets—besides, he had not anticipated any clashes, even of the verbal variety, this early in the game.

A thought flashed through his mind, engendered by the message of the one-eyed Youcoub el-Bachir. The Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan had left word through him that Larry's road still lay south, and who could the Sheikh el-Hassan be—save only Omar ben Medjad And, if Omar ben Medjad, then it was reasonable to assume that this astonishing man knew all about this armed movement in the night. Was it not also reasonable to suppose that he was near at hand or, in all probability, actually in the ranks And, finally, was it not reasonable to believe these men would have heard of this sheikh? He decided to risk it.

"I am of no company, khalifa," he answered, his tones surly. "I am of the fraigua of the mighty sheikh Tahar el-Hassan."

The other's brows bent in sudden respect and he bowed slightly.

"You serve the sheikh. I hear he brings one, two thousand men to the Temple as his share in the Great Event. So, then, you are one of his famous Swords of the South. But I had not thought him arrived yet. Perhaps you go ahead to make ready for his coming"

Gratefully Larry seized on this apparently guileless opening.

"The Sheikh Tahar el-hassan follows not far behind me, khalifa. As you say, I but precede him, that I may tell men he comes and that I may make ready a place against his arrival."

Now the khalifa smiled grimly and his face grew dark. His next words were ominous.

"Verily you are the greatest liar Allah ever left uncrucified, for does not every man in this mahalla know that he is a Sword of the South? Know, too, that the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan marches in the van? Does not every man of us know our sheikh scorns a bodygaurd? Ha, fdouli, pretender, you have left yourself in for a pretty mess. Now, by Allah, it is in my mind that you are a spy of the Marabout Group. As such it is my duty to seize you."

Larry had a sinking of the heart and realized he had stepped witlessly into a clever trap the lieutenant had laid for him. The khalifa turned and called to several nearby soldiers, who hastened to him.

"Seize this imposter, for verily I believe he is either a spy of the infidels or of the holy villains who sit at the Temple. He says he is of the guard of Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan. Away with him to the sheikh himself and let there be a judgment."

Larry felt himself seized and held by rough hands. His rifle and sword were removed, but there was no effort made at searching beneath his burnouse. Swiftly, a command went up the line and a lane opened for Larry and his captors to move forward. It seemed to him that he was an hour or more in passing through the columns that hemmed him in on either side; but at last he was halted and bade to remain silent, while one of his captors departed hastily toward the front of the line.

Larry realized that a test was coming. If he were mistaken in the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan being in reality Omar ben Medjad, it was likely that serious results would come; his life probably would be forfeit. He had little faith that the ring on his finger would save him, should the sheikh really be other than Omar. But if, as he firmly believed and suspected, the two were one, then , he felt, he would have little to fear.

'BARBARA WORT COMING HERE

Samuel Goldwyn, whose fondness for best selling novels as preferred subjects for big films dates back to his pioneer film-making days, has done it again. The maker of "Stella Dallas" now presents "The Winning of Barbara Worth," a Henry King Production based on the Harold Bell Wright best selling novel which sold into two millon copies. The film comes to the Ceramic theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The producers of the film, which boasts of Vilma Banky in the Barbara Worth role and Ronald Colman as the Eastern engineer, Willard Holmes, estimate that ten million people have already read the novel. There were, first of all, the two million purchasers of the original Wright $2 book. Then additional millions read the serialization of the novel in more than one hundred newspapers in the United States alone. And now, synchronized with release of "The Winning of Barbara Worth" by United Artists Corporation comes the popular-priced A. L. Burt Co., photoplay edition, with more thousands reading the Wright story.

Samuel Goldwyn was so anxious to have the benefit of the ten million readers of Harold Bell Wright's tale that he paid, according to his own admisson, $125,000 for the screen rights to "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

Tunney to Re-enter Ring In Defense of Title In September

Will Face Winner of Dempsy-Sharkey Go, Perhaps in Chicago

Offers From Baltimore and Philadelphia Also Under Consideration; $40 Will be Top Price; Two Jacks to Fight July 21.

NEW YORK, June 20. — World heavyweight champion Gene Tunney will defend his title against the winner of the Jack-Dempsey-Jack Sharkey battle on or about September 10, possibly at Chicago it was learned here today.

The Dempsey-Sharkey bout is scheduled for the Yankee stadium in this city on July 21. Promoter Tex Rickard, who is planning the heavweight struggles, is understood to favor Chicago as the site of the title contest. September 10 falls upon a Saturday. If the contest is staged on that date it probably will take place in the afternoon.

Rickard has not definitely decided on Chicago. He has offers from Baltimore and Philadelphia under consideration. The only definite decision the promoter has made is the elimination of this city as a battle ground. Rickard has been compelled to forego plans for a local bout because of the fact that the Yankee stadium will not be available in September and he has no desire to delay the bout until October and gamble with the weather. Furthermore, Rickard finds he cannot charge admission prices here sufficiently high enough to float such a gigantic undertaking.

It is learned from reliable authority that he intends to charge a top price of $40 for the Tunney bout and will make all tickets at "even prices," the promoter shouldering the government tax, as he did with the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in Jersey City.

Rickard partly smoothed the way for the fistic climax he plans this season. Jess McMahon, Rickard's match maker, held a lengthy conference with Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, and afterward Buckley authorized the announcement he had accepted terms for the Boston Lithuanian to fight Dempsey on July 21 in the Yankee stadium. The session dispelled the report of difficulties in getting Sharkey to agree to fight Dempsey.

BATTLE FOR FLAG LEAD IN CHICAGO

Cubs Need Two Wins to Jump in Front of Bucs.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Pittsburgh Pirates take on the Cubs in games at Chicago this afternoon that may have an important bearing on the pennant race.

The Cubs smothered the Bucs yesterday, 14 to 7, Charley Root winning his twelfth game and Earl Webb clouting his eleventh homer. Paul Waner hit safely in his 22nd consecutive game.

Jack Scott, the big iron man from Philadelphia, tried to beat the Reds twice and almost got away with it. Jack won the first game, 3 to 1, on Thompson's triple, but tired in the nightcap and Rixey blanked the Phils, 3 to 0.

Other good bits of pitching were contributed by Benton and Clarkson of the Giants and Joe Shaute of Cleveland. The New York pair held the Cardinals to four hits and won, 4 to 3, on homers by Hornsby and Reese.

KNOW NOTHING OF TEX'S PLANS

CHICAGO, June 20. — Members of the "who's who" in Illinois boxing circles have no official information regarding Tex Rickard's proposed plan to stage a heavyweight championship match in Chicago, a canvass of promoters and members of the boxing commission revealed today.

The men who rule the game here stated their first and only information concerning a world title bout here was contained in press dispatches from New York. The reports, however, have caused great excitement among local fight fans.

Promoter James Mullen, often referred to as the "Tex Rickard of the middle west," refused to comment on the poaching threat of his eastern rival.

TILDEN IS WINNER AT WIMBLEDON

Inaugurates Net Matches by Defeating Briton.

By F. A. Wray.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 20.—"Big Bill" Tilden inaugurated the Wimbledon tennis championship today with an easy victory over G. A. Pratt of England.

Playing before a huge and fashionable crowd in the centre court, Tilden ran out a victory at 6-2, 6-1, 6-0, in a most casual manner.

Pratt had just barely managed to qualify for the tournament, Tilden playing in a light hearted manner, occasionally drove into the net to make the score more interesting.

During the last set Tilden speeded up and amidst applause from the gallery displayed unusually fine tennis, scoring service ace after service ace.

"I am feeling fine and fit, and am striving and hoping to win," Tilden told the International News Service after the match.

Asked about the condition of his knee, Tilden replied, "that's a matter I don't talk about. You saw me play."

For the first time since the World war, a German player appeared at Wimbledon today. O. Froitzheim, the pre-war international player, met J. G. Collins, the Scottish champion. The German won the first two sets by superb volleying and relentless placements, 7-5, 6-3.

Collins rallied and won the third set, 6-3.

DUST IS BLAMED FOR RACE DEATHS

BRAZIL, Ind., June 20.—Heavy dust at the Sunflower race track was blamed for the tragedy in the first five-mile elimination automobile race in which the car of Gerald Bush, 31, of Iowa City, Iowa, crashed into two other cars and then plunged into the spectators.

Bush was killed and three spectators were injured.

COLLEGE CREWS TRAIN ON HUDSON

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 20.—For the first time since training began for the intercollegiate regatta here on June 29, all 19 crews which will participate were on the Hudson today for workouts. The new arrivals are the Wisconsin freshmen and the Washington and navy crews.

Shaute yielded only four hits against the White Sox, winning, 3 to 2, over Ted Lyons, who had pitched nine straight victories. The Sox now trail the Yankees by seven games and the Yanks already are figuring on ways and means of spending their world series boodle.

LOOKS LIKE YANKEES IN BAN'S LOOP

Cubs Have Something to Say About Race in National.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 20.—If the results of another international campaign mean anything, and usually they do, the New York Yankees almost may be conceded as the American league entry in the 1927 world series and the Chicago Cubs may be conceded a club that will have to be beaten in the National League race; it is now evident that they can't be talked out of it.

Anyhow, the Cubs, by winning twelve out of sixteen against the east and racing ahead to within a single game of the pace-setting Pirates, have served notice on any and all concerned that they are with the situation more or less permanently. And there are a surprising number of citizens concerned; they weren't early in April when the Cubs were considered slightly declasse but they are vitally concerned now because there is nothing else to be done about an outfit that plays .760 baseball through the last twenty days of the race.

The best the Pirates and Cardinals could do against the east was an average of .600. Their best, in fact was good but not good composite record of the three lent considerable aid and comfort to the notion that the National league pennant is going west for the third straight year.

Of course, it isn't too late for the Giants to make their long-deferred play for the title but since they are the only eastern club that means anything, and to date they haven't meant much, the idea that the west is due again will suffice until a better one turns up.

The Giants started west with the commendable ambition of finally declaring themselves by playing at least .700 baseball during the trip; instead, they won only six out of sixteen for an average of .375, which by the way, was exactly the average maintained by the entire east against the entire west. Even the Cincinnati Reds, the official sap team of the race to date, was able to win nine and lost seven during the intersectional meetings.

However, the eastern hemisphere of the American league circuit, clearly outpointed the west through the same period, largely due to the record of the Yankees. If the National league pennant is to go west, it seemed equally certain today that the American league championship was coming east.

For the Yankees, seven games in front regardless of their injuries, again won ten games in thirteen against the west, making their season's record 20 out of 26, and in case such a club isn't due, the east still has the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators as natural contenders. The former beat the west this time, nine out of fourteen, and the Senators did even better, winning ten out of sixteen.

Of course, the White Sox still are running second but no longer are they crowding the Yanks, after winning only one game in four at the stadium and only seven out of sixteen on the trip. The Sox, like a man with a broken head, are doing as well as can be expected and even better. They are almost a miracle, in fact, but they are not a champion outfit.

Joe Wells and Other Buckeye Stars Seek to Unseat Toledoan

Local Star Paired up With Rader Jewett in Pro-Amateur Best Ball Tourney Today; Opening Round to Start Tomorrow Morning.

J. M. Wells, of East Liverpool, veteran of countless golf struggles of local, state and national importance, twice wearer of Ohio's highest amateur laurels, will be found at the Miami Valley Country club in Dayton tomorrow morning when the 1927 state amateur championship officially gets under way.

Wells will be there with practically all of the other "regulars" who have been whacking the gutta percha in state tourneys over a wide range of years.

Singularly enough, this year's tourney lacks an outstanding favorite as the starting time nears, while there is sufficient brilliance and talent in the ranks of the contenders to make the tussle for the title a contest that will not be devoid of thrills.

Parker Campbell, of Toledo, will be the defending champion, having won the cup last summer at Westwood.

Ellsworth Augustus of Kirtland, and Dave Ogilvie, Jr., Ohio State Freshman, both Clevelanders, must be regarded among the strongest contenders.

Young Ogilvie was the sensation last year at Westwood and his shots will be watched by a large gallery, along with three other Cleveland youngsters, Joe Toth, Jack Cummins and Dick Morrow.

In the matter of home talent, Dayton has Vincent Hilton, who recently shot a record breaking 69 over the Miami course.

Jack Munro, Ned Handy, Frank Werner and Ken Wolcott will be there from Akron. Columbus sends the youngster, Alfred Sargeant. And Harold Weber, who never misses, will accompany Campbell in Toledo's official delegation.

Joe Wells will be paired with Rader Jewett, East Liverpool Country club professional, in the pro-amateur best ball tourney today.

W. E. Wells, Jr., brother of J. M. Wells, will attend the tournament.

ZILL'S PRELIMS TO BE STAGED

YOUNGSTOWN, June 20.—After the disappointment handed to fight fans by the cancellation of the Risko-Montgomery fight, Promoter Al Zill has lined up one of his famous popular priced affairs for Idora Par, on June 21st.

The three prelims heavyweight bouts that Zill has lined up for the Risko-Montgomery battle will go in as they were, with Emmett Rocco and Andy Moran, Battling Gahee and Tom Hunter, and Harold Scarnecchi and Jimmy Conley doing their stuff.

All of these battles will be over the six round route.

JOHN J. "OUT ON HIS OWN"

Because the going has been a bit rough for the Giants in the National, Manager John J. McGraw has taken matters into his own hands and is doing a little "ivory hunting" himself. He is shown above, right, scouting a game at Indianapolis, Ind., seated next to William C. Smith, owner of the Hoosier club of the American Association.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. COOLIDGE ENJOY BEAUTIES OF BLACK HILLS

President and Mrs. Coolidge have expressed great delight over their choice of the Black Hills of South Dakota as a summer retreat. Here are photos just received: (1) State Game Lodge, as it looks now as the summer home of the Chief Executive of the nation; (2) Squaw Creek, where the President has found fishing good; (3) Governor W. J. Bulow of South Dakota, a Democrat, photographed as he greeted (very happily) a Republican President; (4) first snapshot of President Coolidge in South Dakota; (5) the main street of Custer, ten miles from the "summer White House" and town in which President and Mrs. Coolidge attend church; (6) cottage occupied by Everett Sanders, the President's secretary, the small figures in the foreground being Colonel E. P. Starling of the White House staff, who selected the site; U. S. Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota; and Paul E. Bellamy, president of the Black Hills Transportation Co.; (7) one of the numerous tunnels on the Needles Highway, near the summer home.

Instant attention must therefore be given to this ailment. If you are cross eyed—if you have a child with cross eyes, send for FREE BOOK on Straightening Cross Eyes.
